HERRICK HOLDS KEY TO SENATE

Foraker Is Said to Have Predicted Governor's Election.

DICK IN THE RACE

Akron Congressman Hustling for Votes for Vacant Senatorship.

TAFT DECLINES THE HONOR

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
Staff Correspondent.
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Cleveland, Feb. 19.—It is probable that the man who succeeds Senator Hanna in the United States senate will know that he has had a battle. At midnight the leaders had failed to unite upon any of the candidates mentioned, and the prospects are slight for a peaceful adjustment. It is impossible to name the winner.

Gov. Myron T. Herrick is the key to the situation. He has not, for publication, announced his purpose. He will not do so tonight; in fact, he refused to even see a newspaper man, breaking several engagements made yesterday of this character. His action would indicate that he has not as yet decided what he will do. Herrick would like to be a candidate. He is ambitious. The party leaders are divided as to which course he should pursue. Meantime valuable time is being lost if the governor should finally enter the field.

Congressman Charles Dick, while he has not formally announced his candidacy, is hustling for votes, pulling wires and making such headway as is to be expected from one who has had long experience in the field of practical politics. Dick will be a candidate regardless of the decision of Herrick. He has made up his mind to make the contest no matter who enters the lists.

Dick Will Open His Campaign.

Mr. Dick will go to his home in Akron tomorrow. There he will be waited on by the members of the legislature from his congressional district. They will ask him to become a candidate and pledge their support. Mr. Dick will consent and make a speech formally placing himself in the field as a senatorial candidate. Monday he will go to Columbus, open headquarters and get busy.

There were a succession of conferences this afternoon. Senator Foraker and George B. Cox had a long talk. Then Foraker and Gov. Herrick exchanged opinions by telephone. Dick and Burton also had talks with Foraker, and Cox called upon Herrick who was in seclusion at the Union club.

The Foraker influence is being exerted in behalf of Herrick. It is believed that Cox is working to the same end. Cox says the governor would like to run. He ought to know, as he is one of the few politicians who talked with Herrick. A Foraker leader who talked with Herrick over the telephone made this statement to The Gazette correspondent:

"I asked the governor if it were true that he had decided to remain out of the senatorial fight, such a report being widely circulated. Herrick said he had not authorized anyone to speak for him, and that such a rumor was entirely without authority. He said he knew of no reason why he should not permit his name to go before the legislature and gave me the impression he would do so."

Foraker Makes a Prediction.

This statement was industriously circulated tonight. It was stated that Foraker, who left for Washington at 7 o'clock, not only believed Herrick was a candidate, but predicted his election.

Congressman Burton does not think Herrick should run. If he does Burton will get into the fight and make it as interesting as possible. He will probably do so regardless of Herrick's final decision. Burton expected Foraker's support. His friends assert that he had good reasons for believing this, and they are idignant because of Foraker's action in trying to force Herrick into the fight.

Congressman Dick would not be quoted, but his position was authoritatively outlined to the writer. Dick does not believe Herrick will enter the race. He thinks the state organization is opposed to such a course on the part of the governor. Foraker's championship of Herrick is also very distasteful to the Dick people.

COSSACKS CROSSING BORDER

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The Chefoo correspondent of the Morning Post, under date of February 19, cables that "Only three Russian warships at Port Arthur remain intact."

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

London, Feb. 19.—The correspondent of the Mail at Rome says all accounts show that the discontented elements in Russia have resolved to take full advantage of the war in the far east. Private news received from the central revolutionary committee in Switzerland, which is in communication with committees in Russia and other parts of Europe, say that everything is prepared for an outbreak in the czar's empire which will have far-reaching effects.

At present the revolutionists are divided into two parties—the anarchists and the socialists. The former wish to remove by murder the heads of the governments in all parts of the country. Their plans are said to be well laid. They declare at a given moment in every city throughout the empire a blow will be struck at the officials, thus deranging the machinery of the administration.

The socialists, on the other hand, are preparing for an upheaval against the landowners and great capitalists. They base their movement on an economic revolution. These two forces will of necessity amalgamate in order to accomplish their designs. They recognize, however, that the present moment is not propitious—too large a section of the population is patriotic, and despite their wish to see a change in government, they will not tie the hands of the present rulers. Their opportunity will come when heavy defeats and a long continuance of the war necessitates fresh reinforcements being sent to the east and the burden is felt more heavily by the people. Meanwhile an active propaganda is being made to prepare the way for a great revolt.

General Rising Expected.

General notice has been sent by the revolutionary leaders to the discontented elements in all districts that news of a decisive defeat in the east is to be the signal for a general upheaval.

CHEMULPO, Feb. 18.—(5 p. m.)—(Special Cable, Herald Copyright.)—Disquieting news regarding disturbances in North Korea were received today. United States Minister Allen is sending the transport Zafiro to remove American women and children from the Ping Yang district to Chemulpo. The men will remain for the present. There are about 40 American residents in the district, including children.

The emperor has personally assured Minister Allen that an edict ordering that Wiju be made an open port is to be immediately issued. Wiju is across the Yalu river, opposite Antung, the opening of which was previously secured by the United States in an agreement with China. Both places will become important commercial distributing points after the war is over and the Seoul-Wiju railway is completed.

Fifteen hundred Cossacks are crossing the border near Wiju. Cossack scouts already have advanced to Anju.

Quiet at Port Arthur.

CHEFOO, Feb. 18.—(12:35 Eastern time.)—(Special Cable, Herald Copyright.)—It is reported all quiet at Port Arthur. The Russian fleet is stationed at the entrance to the harbor. The German cruiser Thetis has returned.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 19.—(Special Cable.)—The gunboat Mandjur, sister ship of the Korietz, sunk at Chemulpo, lingers here, though the Chinese have given peremptory orders to her commander to leave. The Mandjur is moored off Shanghai sound. This morning the Japanese cruiser Akitsushima steamed inside Woo-

ALL EUROPE NOW ARMING FOR CONTINENTAL STRUGGLE

England, Spain, Turkey, Austria, Sweden, France and Germany Renewing Efforts for National Defense—War Likely in Balkans.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]
(Copyright, 1904, by the New York Herald Co.)

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—According to a telegram from the Madrid correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, the French government has confidentially given warning to the Spanish cabinet of secret plans of the British government to seize parts of Spanish territory in case of war. This is the reason why Spain is sending troops to the Canary islands, Ceuta Galacia and the neighborhood of the Straits of Gibraltar. The French government also advised the strengthening of the fortifications of certain parts of the Spanish coast.

Baron Richthofen, minister of foreign affairs, has made an important declaration regarding German troops in the far east. He states that in view of the outbreak of war it was impossible for Germany to withdraw the 2,600 men she has now in China and at Kiaochau. The troops in China are the backbone of the maintenance of order in China.

Sweden is now following the example of Denmark and also arming. Telegrams from Stockholm state that a council of state was held Tuesday, at which it was decided to strengthen fortifications on the islands of Gothland. It was also decided to mobilize the coast artillery, and it was proposed to bring the fleet from Karlskrona to Stockholm and concentrate the troops in North Sweden.

The Austrian embassy intimates that war in the far east will not interfere with Russia's action in the Balkans, and that the Russian troops necessary for China will be drawn from the reserve, so as to leave the military force of Europe intact.

It is reported here upon good authority that Turkey's patience is nearly at an end, and unless the Macedonian agitation ceases energetic measures will be taken to bring Bulgaria to her senses. As the sultan is suzerain of Bulgaria, the sublime porte does not consider a declaration of war necessary. Turkish troops will be marched into Bulgaria as into a vassal state which is in rebellion.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Statesmen and Capital Labor Honor the Dead at Church Ceremonies.

GREAT CITY'S SILENT TRIBUTE

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
Staff Correspondent.
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Cleveland, Feb. 19.—Impressive, yet without display, were the services at St. Paul's Episcopal church over the remains of Senator Marcus A. Hanna. Admittance was by card and limited to the actual seating capacity. Secretaries Taft, Cortelyou and Wilson represented the president, and grouped behind them was the congressional delegation, led by Senator J. B. Foraker, Mr. Hanna's colleague. Gov. Myron T. Herrick and Gov. Durbin of Indiana were present with their staffs.

Labor was represented by John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers; M. M. Garland, ex-president of the Amalgamated association; Daniel Keefe, president of the Longshoremen's union, and W. J. Hanrahan, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

With the exception of Bishop Leonard's eulogy, an able and eloquent deliverance, the ceremonies were confined strictly to the Episcopal funeral service. Great crowds had assembled in front of St. Paul's as early as 11 o'clock. It was snowing furiously and a biting breeze chilled the watchers. But they minded it not.

From 6 o'clock this morning the body lay in state at the chamber of commerce, and when the doors were closed there were still thousands in line.

Mayor Johnson Viewed Remains.

One of the last persons to enter the chamber while the body lay in state was Mayor Tom L. Johnson. During the interim when the public was excluded until the time for removing the body to the church several officials and personal friends took a last look at the features of the dead senator. First of these was Secretary Dover. The faithful secretary was visibly affected as he looked upon the face of the man he had served for so many years. Others who were admitted were former Gov. Nash, Secretary of State Laylin and Gen. J. Warren Kiefer. Secretaries Wilson and Cortelyou came in just after the coffin had been closed, but did not ask to have it reopened.

It was 1 o'clock when the cortege reached the church. The audience had been seated and the doors closed for 15 minutes. Members of the Hanna family occupied seats on the right front. The widow had been escorted to her seat by her son, Dan R. Hanna, and the two daughters, Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Parsons, by their husbands. H. M. Hanna and L. C. Hanna, brothers of the dead senator, with their families were present. Directly behind them were the representatives of the Ohio legislature, National Civic Federation, Loyal Legion of Honor and Sons of the American Revolution.

Favorite Hymn Sung.

Bishop Leonard and his associate clergy met the remains at the entrance. The choir chanted "Lord, let me know the number of my days, that I will be certified how long I live," and "Lord, Thou hast been our refuge from one generation to another." President Pierce of Kenyon college read the lesson from First Corinthians, fifteenth chapter, from the twentieth verse to the end of the chapter. "Lead, Kindly Light," a favorite hymn of the senator, was sung by the choir and then followed an eloquent eulogy by Bishop Leonard.

The creed and prayers were read by the Rev. George H. McGrew, rector of St. Paul's. Bishop Leonard read the committal service, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Jones, rector of St. John's, of which church Senator Hanna was a vestryman. The anthem, "Lord, Let Me Know Thy Name," and the bishop's benediction concluded the service.

The audience remained standing while the casket, followed by the family, was

CZAR ACCEPTS NOTE OF HAY

NO CONSUL WANTED AT DALNY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19.

Russia has formally recognized the neutrality of all China outside of Manchuria. That vast province is by tacit international consent to be left the battleground of Russia and Japan.

Mr. Hay heard yesterday that the Russian acquiescence to the principle of the note in which he urged the powers to insure China's neutrality so that the area of hostilities might be restricted only awaited the czar's approval. Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, today received the formal answer.

It was later learned that the Russian note acquiesced in the principle that steps should be taken to prevent more powers being drawn into the conflict. The czar and his advisers are content to adhere to any reasonable proposition by which to scope of hostilities may be restricted, but not for a moment has any idea been entertained in St. Petersburg that Manchuria, which is occupied by thousands of Russian soldiers, can be exempted from fighting. Mr. Hay did not mention Manchuria in his note, but he never expected it to be neutral.

Russia has refused to receive Mr. Edwin V. Morgan as American consul at Dalny. Secretary Hay this morning received a formal notification from the Russian government that its military commanders desire no foreigners on the Liau-Tung peninsula during hostilities because of the difficulty of affording them protection. He immediately went to the White House and laid the facts before the president.

Russia made it plain that Mr. Morgan would be welcome if anyone was, but it is pointed out that he would be especially liable to interference because the United States has undertaken to care for Japanese interests in Russian territory. Mr. Hay appreciated the position of the Russian government. Nevertheless the barring of an American consul is not particularly relished.

Mr. Morgan is now on his way to San Francisco. Instructions were sent to him to sail as he had planned from that city on February 26. He will go to Dalny if he can, it being hoped the Russian government may change its opinion meantime. He is also given permission, if he cannot reach Dalny, to proceed to Chefoo and await developments.

If Russia holds Dalny it is not improbable that he will receive orders when he reaches Yokohama or Chefoo to proceed to Wiju, Korea, a port just opened to world commerce by decree of the emperor of Korea. No trouble is expected about the acceptance of Mr. Davison as consul there or of Mr. Cheshire as consul at Mukden.

JAPAN REPLIES TO THE CHINESE

No Wanton Destruction of Property Will Be Countenanced by Mikado.

WAR IS NOT ONE OF CONQUEST

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Tokyo, Feb. 19.—The response of Japan to the request of China for a statement of its position in regard to the neutrality of the latter country was made public today. Its text is as follows:

"The imperial government, desiring to avoid as far as possible a disturbance of the peaceful condition of affairs which prevails in China, will in all parts of Chinese territory, excepting the regions now occupied by Russia, respect the neutrality of China, so long as Russia does the same.

"The rules of war which govern the forces of Japan in the field do not permit the wanton destruction of property. Accordingly, the imperial Chinese government may rest assured that the mausoleums and palaces at Mukden and Haing-Khang, and public buildings in China everywhere will be secure from any injury not attributable to the action of Russia.

"Furthermore, the rights of Chinese officials and inhabitants within the zone of military operations will in their persons and property be fully respected and protected by the imperial forces so far as military necessity permits.

"It remains to say in conclusion that the war is not being waged by the Japanese for the purpose of conquest, but solely in defense of her legitimate interests and, consequently, the imperial government has no intention to acquire territory at the expense of China as a result of the conflict.

"The imperial government also wishes the imperial Chinese government to clearly understand that whatever action may be taken by them on Chinese territory which is made the theater of war will be the result of military necessity and not impairment of Chinese sovereignty."

INSANE ASYLUM BURNED; TEN PATIENTS MISSING

RACINE, WIS., Feb. 19.—Racine county insane asylum, located at Catlin, four miles west of this city, one of the finest institutions of the kind in the state, was burned to the ground tonight. In the building were 132 patients, but it is believed they were all taken out safely. It is said that eight or 10 of the inmates are missing and unless they have been taken to farm houses they have wandered away in the snow and become lost.

OVER 20 DEAD; TOWN WRECKED

MANY WERE INJURED

THE DISASTER IS WIDESPREAD

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Salt Lake, Utah, Feb. 19.—Twenty-five persons were killed and 27 were injured today in Jackson, a small town 15 miles west of Harriman's famous cut-off across the Great Salt lake. Two heavy freight cars loaded with dynamite and giant powder bumped together in the process of switching.

There was a deafening roar, a flash of flame and the little town was blown off the face of the earth. The concussion was so great that in Ogden, more than eight miles away, the shock was felt and the noise of the explosion heard.

For more than a quarter of a mile the Southern Pacific railroad track was blown away, and the mountain knobs which skirted Jackson were shattered as if some internal explosion had occurred. Bodies were shot through the air for a distance of half a mile and two-thirds of the victims' corpses are so badly mangled that they will never be recognized.

Six men who were standing on the two cars which carried the explosives were simply shattered to shreds. Flesh not larger than five cent pieces, was sprayed over the country for an area of a mile square. There was literally, a ray of flesh and blood flowing within a radius of half a mile. Heads, legs, arms and other portions of human bodies lay around the scene of the disaster. The telegraph station in Jackson was blown into fragments and Operator Taylor, his wife and three children were killed.

The telegraph wires are down, and it is hard to get details of the accident.

The cars were loaded to their full capacity and were billed for San Francisco. Part of the car of dynamite was to be shifted in Jackson and the train was being run into the siding to throw the dynamite car on to the station track. As the switch engine bumped backward to uncouple the dynamite car it was jammed into the car containing the powder. The two cars straited under the contact and a moment later the dynamite exploded.

SINKING OF YENISEI TOLD BY SURVIVOR

One Hundred and Ninety Killed. Port Arthur Mines Displaced by Storm.

By NORRIS NEWMAN.
[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

TIENTSIN, Feb. 19.—I obtained at Niuchwang from an officer who survived the explosion on the Yenisei, the details of the accident which destroyed the ship. The Yenisei was engaged in laying 400 mines. Three hundred and ninety-eight already had been planted, but the 399th floated instead of sinking. Thereupon the Yenisei drew off and fired her light guns in an effort to sink or explode it. While thus occupied the lookout discovered the ship had drifted near another mine. He gave the alarm and jumped overboard. Immediately there was a terrific explosion.

One hundred and ninety officers and men, including the captain, were killed and 90 others were picked up in boats and saved. The officer laying the mines was the only man in the fleet knowing exactly how the mines were disposed. He was killed.

A violent storm followed the explosion and the mines came to the surface and floated in all directions. The next day the cruiser Boyarin was sent in to assist in securing the derelicts. The Boyarin was caught in the storm, driven on the rocks and became a total wreck.

The loss to the Russian fleet to date is 11 large ships wrecked or permanently injured. Rumors that Dalny has been occupied by the Japanese are untrue. Trains running from Port Arthur to Harbin are greatly delayed. The line is closely guarded.

JAPAN ENTHUSIASTIC OVER ENGLISH ALLIANCE

Fete in Honor of British Crews. Correspondents Are Bottled Up.

By PERCIVAL PHILLIPS.
[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Feb. 19.—Advices this morning report that the Russians are moving south towards Seoul. An enthusiasm for everything Enrlish is apparent since the outbreak of war. It culminated in the festivities in honor of the arrival of the cruisers Nisshn and Kasuga.

The mayor declared a public holiday and a fete was organized in the famous Hibiya park in honor of the English crews which manned the cruisers. The destruction of the Variag in fireworks was shown in the evening. A feature of the day was the universal display of the British flag and a number of speeches in favor of the alliance with England were made.

Most of the European and American correspondents sent to join the Japanese force are still at Tokyo awaiting permission to go to the front. Only personal permits signed by the war minister are to be given. Thus far none have been issued.

There is much grumbling in consequence. The censorship is more rigid than ever.

BLOODY FIGHT WITH A POSSE

SEVEN MEN WOUNDED

A WILD RUSH TO THE TRAIN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

St. Louis, Feb. 19.—In an effort to close up a poolroom that has for a long time operated in the outskirts of Madison, Ill., across the river from St. Louis, three constables, augmented by a posse of citizens, all bearing warrants for the arrest of six men connected with the poolroom, precipitated a riot late today which resulted in the shooting of seven men. Two may die.

The wounded:

LEE HARLAN, druggist, probably mortally.
WILLIAM SCHOOLEY, policeman.
EDWARD HARRIS, spectator, not seriously.
EDWARD DOWNS, spectator, seriously.
PATRICK MCAMBRIDGE, policeman, probably mortally.
TWO UNKNOWN, not seriously.

Warrants had been sworn out before Justice of the Peace Isenmeyer of Granite City, adjoining Madison, and placed in the hands of Constable John Glass and two other constables for the arrest of Whitfield Brooks and Eugene Wall of Granite City and Thomas Filer, Charles Greenfield, Thomas Manly and Martin Johns of St. Louis, charging them with being connected with the pool room.

After the failure of the Madison county grand jury, which recently investigated the pool room, to return indictments, citizens took the matter in hand with the intention of having the pool room closed. Several days ago warrants were issued for State Senator David Nelson of Missouri, charging him with being a pool seller, and Victor Schuler, charging him with conducting the pool room and being custodian of the funds. Schuler was arrested yesterday and gave bond of $500 pending a hearing.

The additional warrants were sworn out today and three constables appeared at the pool room to serve them. Two policemen were within and declared they had arrested the operators of the pool room, and were guarding them. Betting was going on as usual at the time. The constables were ordered to leave the premises, which they did after argument. Proceeding through the neighborhood for the next half hour the constables organized a posse of armed citizens numbering about 50 persons. The constables and posse then returned to the pool room and entered. They were at once ordered out and the doors were ordered locked.

The posse demurred and were followed. One policeman, it is stated, pointed a shotgun at Policeman McCambridge, who fired a revolver into the ceiling. Firing then became general. The policeman was shot through the body. The crowd in the pool room scattered hurriedly, many fleeing into a waiting Illinois Central train until it became packed. When the fusillade was over the constables and posse had possession.

The bookmakers, however, tonight asserted that the pool room will be open as usual tomorrow. Although the pool room men are not constructively under arrest the police say they will not permit the citizens to interfere.

William, George and Alexander Condy, brothers, and William Schooley, who was shot in the leg, were tonight arrested on warrants charging them with rioting. The warrants were sworn out by Policeman John Neehan before Magistrate C. L. Gibbs. The four were in the posse and William Condy and Schooley were among citizens who secured the warrants which the constables attempted to serve today, causing the riot.

TWO FATALLY HURT IN POLITICAL FIGHTS

Hughes and Hite Factions Name Contesting Republican Delegations in West Virginia.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Feb. 19.—Wayne and Cabell counties held Republican district conventions to name delegates to county conventions which will select delegates to the congressional convention, and the fight between Congressman Hughes and W. F. Hite for delegates became so strenuous that contesting delegations were named in almost every district in the two counties.

Bloodshed resulted at one precinct in Wayne, half a dozen persons being implicated in a knife and pistol duel in which several were injured. In a street fight in front of the convention hall in this city tonight, the result of politics, Robert Odell, a letter carrier, had his skull crushed and Leander Gilkerson was stabbed three times. Both will probably die. Great interest is centered in the country conventions tomorrow.

CLEVELAND COMPARES W. J. BRYAN TO THE WIND

Sage of Princeton Says: "Let Him Talk."—Refused to Comment on His Article.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 19.—Former President Cleveland today declined to make further comment upon his article touching upon the Democratic chances in the coming presidential campaign. He said:

"I think the article explains itself and haven't anything more to say about it."

When asked what he thought of Mr. Bryan's remarks in which he took exception to nearly everything Mr. Cleveland said in the article, he promptly replied:

"I do not care any more about what Bryan says than the wind that blows. I am sure it does not bother me and let him talk."

REVOLT NIPPED IN HONDURAS

Bonilla Imprisons Nine Members of Congress, One Cousin of Nicaraguan President.

MAY CAUSE NEIGHBOR WAR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Feb. 19.—The facts of the recent declaration of a dictatorship in Honduras have reached here. Nine members of congress are now in jail, congress has been dissolved and President Bonilla has called a constitutional convention to form a new congress. On the night of February 6, President Bonilla, with a number of dignitaries, was attending a reception in the college of arts. In the midst of the gaieties the building was fired in a dozen places. The presidential party had a narrow escape, but finally made its way to the palace. The police department was put to work instantly and the following members of congress were arrested and are in imminent danger of never being heard from again:

Policarpo Bonilla, a cousin of the president; Salvador Zelaya, a cousin of President Zelaya of Nicaragua; Marcos Carias, Miguel A. Navana, Miguel Bustillo, Jesus M. Alvarado, Manual A. Baronhonda, Ricardo Pineda and Jacinto Rivas.

From the facts in the possession of the government they had planned a coup d'etat and Policarpo Bonilla was to have been made president.

The disturbance did not extend beyond Tegucigalpa, and everything is quiet there now. The prompt steps taken by the government has squelched the incipient revolt. The constitutional convention will not have its meeting fixed until the government is assured that there is no further danger from the revolutionists.

The arrest of President Zelaya's cousin may provoke complications with Nicaragua, as President Bonilla has all along suspected Zelaya as trying to foment discord within his dominion and this will convince him of the truth of his suspicion, and it is not improbable that a war between the two countries may ensue.

LET HIM GO AFTER ALL.

Sick Alderman Holds Alleged Illegal Voter for Court, but Politicians Agree.

After Alderman Samuel F. Kerr from a sick bed had heard the evidence and had held William Reynolds for court in $500 bail last night E. G. Schartzwaelder, the defeated candidate for select council from the Twelfth ward who made the charges, and John Barry, councilman-elect, who furnished bail, got together, withdrew the charges and the man was released.

The hearing was a unique one. Alderman Kerr has been quite ill, but is now recovering, and rather than delay the case, he resolved to hold it in his sickroom. Propped up with pillows and surrounded by witnesses and spectators he tried the case.

Reynolds is a colored man. He was arrested on the information made by Schwartzwaelder, who alleged that Reynolds served as watcher in the Fourth precinct of the Twelfth ward and voted without being a resident of the state. It was brought out that Reynolds formerly lived at 2831 Mulberry alley, but moved to Ohio last June, returning here about a month ago. He said in his statement that his wife and children lived in Twenty-fifth street which is not in the precinct from which he voted.

WILL NAME THOMPSON.

Democrats Decide Upon Him as Their Candidate for the Supreme Bench.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Gov. Pennypacker, if nominated for the supreme court by the Republican state convention, will be opposed for election by Justice Samuel Gustine Thompson, who will be the Democratic nominee. Justice Thompson was appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy made by the death of Chief Justice McCollum.

There was considerable doubt that Justice Thompson would be nominated, but City Chairman Donnelly of the Democratic organization held out for Thompson against the opposition of the leaders, and at a conference of leading Democrats held a few days ago in this city, attended by Col. Guffey, those who preferred another candidate withdrew their opposition.

BURNED TO A CRISP.

Red-Hot Cinders Dumped Upon an Employe at the Duquesne Steel Works.

Steve Dugush, a laborer at the Duquesne steel works, was working about the dumping ground for hot ashes when a carload was run out over the dump and before Dugush got out of danger the trap was sprung. A gang of workmen started to dig him out, but before they reached him he was burned to a crisp. He lived in Mifflin township. He was 31 years old and had a wife and one child in Europe.

Joseph Signo, aged 48, a laborer in Preble avenue, Allegheny, was killed by a fall of ore while at work yesterday. He lived at 46 Ontario street, Allegheny, and is survived by his widow.

DUTY AGAINST AMERICAN IRON WOULDN'T HELP

LONDON, Feb. 19.—In the house of lords this afternoon the duke of Devonshire (Liberal Unionist) made a long speech on the fiscal question. He explained that he resigned as lord president of the council after learning fully Mr. Balfour's views, as he was a free trader. Continuing, the duke of Devonshire referred to the suggestion to place a retaliatory duty on American iron and said the result would be to relieve the home trade of temporary inconvenience, but it would not increase the ability of the British manufacturers to meet American competition in foreign markets.

MINERS CEASE WORK IN HONOR OF HANNA

WILKESBARRE, PA., Feb. 19.—Today was generally observed through the Wyoming valley coal fields as a day of mourning and all the mines and collieries were closed out of respect for the death of Senator Hanna. So far as known there has never been a similar demonstration of the love and respect shown upon the death of a United States senator.

TO CHECKMATE MAYOR WEAVER

Philadelphia Conventions to Be Delayed to Spoil Plans of Backsliders.

DURHAM'S ABSENCE IS FELT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Feb. 19.

An eleventh hour change has been practically agreed on by the Republican city leaders, in the nomination of candidates for congress, the legislature, common pleas court judges, city controller, recorder of deeds and clerk of quarter sessions courts. Instead of nominating these candidates March 30, as was originally planned, the leaders have about decided to postpone action until August or September.

The move is of significance in view of present conditions, particularly so because of plans to be executed during the next 10 months. The suggestion to delay all nominations is a surprise to political circles.

When Insurance Commissioner Durham departed for California in December the understanding was the conventions should be held at an early date, and all places on the ticket be disposed of at that time. Mr. Durham has been away from the city about two months. He departed in the belief that no condition was likely to arise to further widen the breach between the organization and the mayor. The opposite has proven to be the case. Each day has served to add to the troubles of the leaders in their dealings with the mayor.

The Durham lieutenants believe Mayor Weaver is undertaking to surround himself with a political organization of his own creation. That they hold to this belief is borne out by the taking up on practically the eve of the conventions, the proposition to postpone all nominations for county offices. The frank statement accompanies that announcement that if it finally decided to change the date for naming county candidates it will be for the one purpose of keeping the organization's hands free and thus be prepared to meet any emergency.

The organization leaders started six months ago to shape their plans for meeting opposition from the mayor. Three months ago positive information was carried to Mr. Durham that certain ward leaders had met and had informally considered a proposition to band together and cast their political fortunes with Mayor Weaver. That meeting was held while Mr. Durham was abroad.

Discouraging reports regarding his condition of health had been received here. Several ward leaders were invited to attend the meeting. It is charged by the Durham men that former Sheriff Alexander Crow, Jr., acted actively in the move. Two other ward leaders, whose names are known, also attended the meeting. Subsequently both withdrew and declared that they would have nothing to do with the whole affair.

DECLINES FOR STATE.

Attorney General Refuses to Make State Plaintiff in Injunction Proceedings.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Attorney General Carson today dismissed the application of L. P. Snyder and Patrick W. Cushman of Clarion for the use of the laws of the state to institute quo warranto proceedings to restrain the Pittsburgh & Shawmut Railroad Company from the sale of several million dollars' worth of stock and bonds. He said, in part:

"I am persuaded that the attorney general is not to play the part of a mere automaton. He must be satisfied in the first place that the complainants have real information on the subject; that they have not been misled; that they are not acting from malicious motives, and in the second place, that a proceeding under the act would be wise; that it is reasonably free from the danger of defeat; and that there will be little chance of the fastening of a bill of costs unnecessarily upon the commonwealth. In short, proofs and not mere allegations are required to make it a prima facia case."

BIDS BY LOCAL FIRMS.

Steel Construction Concerns Anxious to Build Wharves in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Out of 23 bids submitted to the dock board for the construction of the new Girard street steel wharves, which will be among the finest of the port, six came from large Pennsylvania concerns, entering into competition with each other for this southern contract. They are:

Pennsylvania Bridge Company, Beaver Falls, $38,504 40; Riter-Conley Manufacturing Company, Pittsburgh, $40,272 80; Belmont iron works, Philadelphia, $34,728 10; Phoenix Iron Company, Phoenixville, $34,136 98; McClintic-Marshall Construction Company, Pottstown, $32,700 50, and the South Pittsburgh Iron works, Claysville, $30,146 16. The board of engineers are now at work examining the bids and the award will probably be made Saturday evening.

Strenuous Effort to Be Made to Reorganize the Rivermen's Union.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—Frank A. Jones, national president of the Marine Engineers' Benevolent association, with headquarters in San Francisco, arrived here last night.

Starting at the mouth of the Mississippi river he will proceed up stream to Pittsburgh, stopping at Vicksburg, Memphis, Evansville, Jeffersonville, Louisville, Paducah, Cairo, Cincinnati and on to Pittsburgh, in an effort to rehabilitate the old unions of river engineers that have fallen by the wayside in recent years. Mr. Jones wants to get them into the National association.

WIFE IS DYING.

Husband Who Stabbed Her Escaped on a Freight Train.

Kate Green, colored, of Monessen, is dying at the McKeesport hospital as a result of knife wounds inflicted by her husband William at her home yesterday. Green, after stabbing his wife, boarded a freight train over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad for this city.

Green went from this city to Monessen. While he resided here he was regarded as a dangerous character, although he committed no depredations. It is said he is wanted in Mississippi for shooting a planter. He was implicated in a shooting affray in Monessen several weeks ago. He escaped to Youngstown, O., and returned undetected to Monessen a few days ago.

Fighting a Troublesome Fire In a Fourth Avenue Building

Fire caused several hundred dollars' damage to the cellar and first floor in the rear of the building at 232 Fourth avenue, formerly occupied by the Iron City National bank, yesterday afternoon. The fire started in the cellar and burned through the first floor before it was discovered. The firemen had much trouble in fighting the fire because of the smoke. The building has been vacant for about a month. All the car lines which run in Wood street and Fourth avenue were tied up during the fire.

A frame kitchen in the rear of the home of William Schmidt, 1811 Wharton street, South Side, was destroyed by fire last night, causing a loss of about $100. An overheated stove set fire to the side of the room.

The fire department was called upon last night to extinguish a small blaze at the Allegheny arsenal, caused by the upsetting of a stove.

Three houses were burned to the ground and a number of others damaged by fire in Butler street, Etna, early yesterday morning, causing a loss of about $10,000. The fire started in the meat store of Charles A. Seitz, at 350 Butler street, and spread to the stores of G. A. Pfaub, George M. Pfaub, John Seitz, Charles F. Eisler and M. Waddell. During the fire three explosions occurred in the ruins of the store of John Seitz, who had gunpowder and turpentine stored in the building.

GOV. HERRICK HOLDS KEY TO SENATE

They also declare that the senator has been flirting with them. A close friend of Dick explains the day's doings thus:

"Foraker's lieutenants have worked vainly all day in an effort to find a man who would stand. This morning they took up Burton, but dropped him when they discovered he could not control the Cuyahoga delegation. Then they surrounded Secretary of War Taft and informed him that he must be their Moses

Taft Prefers Cabinet.

Taft refused. He said he had obligations which debarred him from leaving the cabinet, such as a responsibility for working out the Philippine problem, etc. Being still further pressed, Taft suggested the name of "Jim" Garfield. But he could not assemble any votes; so they tackled Congressman Beidler. He did not enthuse, either. As a last resort they told Foraker he must get in behind Herrick, and while the governor gave them no encouragement, they are now booming him for the place."

The above summarizes the situation from the viewpoint of those that will talk. I believe Herrick will become a candidate. If he does he will make a strong showing from the start. There is little doubt that he will receive the votes controlled by Foraker and Cox and others susceptible to the influence of executive patronage.

Congressman Dick's friends say he can control the Cuyahoga members, but it is probable that Herrick would split the delegation. This evening the governor consulted with Andrew Squire, a trusted adviser of the late Senator Hanna. He wants advice as to what he shall do. Other strong Hanna men were asked for their opinions.

Cox Probably for Herrick.

Some of them are said to have advised him to remain where he is, claiming that if he leaves the gubernatorial chair he will not only disrupt the organization, but place the officials now holding state jobs at the mercy of the Foraker faction. It being assumed that Lieut. Gov. Harding would execute any orders issued by Forsker.

George B. Cox, the Cincinnati leader, is sawing wood, but there is little question as to his position. If Herrick becomes a candidate he will bury the hatchet with Foraker, sign a new agreement and Herrick will be the silent partner in the new triumvirate. Foraker would be the dominant factor, so far as Ohio is concerned in national politics. Cox would direct state politics and Herrick would realize his newly born ambition. Such a deal, if successful, would put Dick out of power so far as the organization is concerned.

Burton's friends explain Foraker's opposition on the ground that the senator does not want a colleague who would be regarded as a rival in a national sense. Burton's long service in the house, his prominence there, his scholarly attainments and intellectual equipoise, bar him, his friends say, so far as Foraker is concerned.

Dick Would Not Suit Foraker.

Similar reasons are also advanced in explanation of his opposition to Dick. Then Dick is a practiced politician. He is suave, smooth and successful. He would not consent to play second fiddle to Foraker. He would want to direct the orchestra and the chances are that he would give the senior senator a husky battle for the honor. So he is not popular with the Cox-Foraker strategists.

In politics Burton is something of a novice. If elected he would be senator—nothing more. That role he would fill most capably, most admirably; but the opportunity now seems to be far off.

It should be remembered, however, that in Ohio, as in Pennsylvania, political leaders change their minds. States, deals and agreements are broken and declared off and the men who are opposing each other tonight may be working in harmony tomorrow. Only two things are certain: A senator will eventually be elected, and George B. Cox will land on his feet with an upholstered seat in the band wagon in which to rest when he gets tired cracking the whip. Cox is intensely sane. He has assets. They will go to the winner, not as a matter of sentiment, but for results—results for Cox.

Local Men on Meat Board.

McNeil of Pittsburgh and Thomas Turnbull of Allegheny. The commission will meet in this city February 26.

DEATH OF REAL CHINESE RULER IS NOW REPORTED

Dowager Empress of Celestial Kingdom Said to Have Expired.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Feb. 19.—A dispatch from Canton announces the death of the dowager empress of China but the report has not yet been confirmed from Pekin.

Should the report that the dowager empress of China is dead prove correct, it is believed that the situation in the far east would be complicated seriously. For more than two score years this woman, through sheer force of her own strength, has ruled the great Middle Kingdom and has held the powers at bay. Born a slave, Tsi-An-Hsi proved herself early in life the masterful ruler she afterward continued to be. She was born November 17, 1834, and early in life was taken into the imperial palace.

In 1851, when the emperor Li-Tschou died, Tsi-An-Hsi first showed her strength. By a series of intrigues, she took the reins of power into her own hands. Since that time there have been two emperors, each the dowager empress' abject slave, as far as state business was concerned.

DOWAGER EMPRESS OF CHINA,
Who Is Again Reported Dead.

In 1875, when Li-Tschou's successor died, a crisis came for Tsi-An-Hsi. She had ruled jointly as regent with Tsai-Tschoun, the mother of the infant emperor, though the latter spent most of her life a virtual prisoner in the palace. With the aid of Li Hung Chang, then just beginning to be prominent in China, the dowager empress was able so to interpret the laws that Tsai-Tien, son of Prince Chun, became emperor. He was three years old. This ruler became known as Kwang-Su, and while nominally the ruler, really had little to do with the real government of his millions of subjects.

On January 25, 1900, an edict was promulgated which stated that owing to ill-health Kwang-Su would no longer take part in the general government. Since then the only ruler has been the dowager, Tsi-An-Hsi. Throughout all this time would mean the independence of the individual mandarins and governors, giving them freedom to ally themselves with foreign powers as their wishes or interests might dictate.

The loss is believed to be between $400,000 and $500,000, with $240,000 insurance.

HANNA RESTS AT LAKE VIEW

carried from the church. The body will temporarily rest in the Wade Memorial at Lake View cemetery.

During the funeral public institutions, the postoffice, City hall, banks and many business houses were closed. Street cars were stopped from 1 to 1:35 and during this period the motormen and conductors stood with heads uncovered. There were many other similar demonstrations of respect.

Marched Two Miles.

Shortly after the noon hour the casket was taken from the chamber of commerce auditorium and the funeral procession took up its slow march to the church, two miles away. At the head of the column rode a platoon of 12 mounted police, followed by three platoons of Troop A, all mounted on black horses, and with swords at carry. The hearse with its distinguished dead came next and was followed by 100 carriages, carrying the pallbearers and official guests, which included members of President Roosevelt's cabinet, Gov. Herrick's staff, the delegation from the senate and house of representatives, members of the Ohio legislature, city officials and delegations from several civic organizations.

Immense throngs of people lined both sides of Euclid avenue from the downtown section to the church entrance. Policemen were on duty all along the thoroughfare and vehicles of every description were kept off the street during the progress of the funeral cortege. The march to the church was a solemn one and was accomplished without incident.

When the church was reached by the funeral cortege, a few moments before the hour set for the service to begin, the edifice was comfortably filled with persons who had been privileged by card to attend. Eight hundred engraved cards were issued, bearing the following simple inscription: "Admit bearer to St. Paul's church, Friday, February 19, at 1 o'clock."

Simple Prayer at Tomb.

When the body and its escort reached the church the edifice was closed to all but members of the funeral party. The eight pallbearers, Gov. Herrick, Samuel Mather, J. B. Zerbe, W. J. McKinnie, A. B. Hough, Andrew Squire, Judge W. B. Sanders and C. A. Grasselli, all personal friends of the dead senator in his home city, removed the flower covered casket from the hearse and with bared heads bore it into the church, and placed it upon the catafalque in front of the altar. The casket was closely followed by members of the Hanna family. J. Pierpont Morgan was of the family party, and recorded Miss Phelps, a member of the Hanna household.

The services concluded, the pallbearers again took up the casket. As they proceeded down the aisle, followed by the family, the choir sang the recessional, "Now the Laborer's Work Is O'er." As the assemblage passed out, the organist played the dead march from "Saul."

Long before the church was emptied the body of Senator Hanna, accompanied by members of the family and Bishop Leonard was on its way to Lake View cemetery, where a tender farewell was taken in Wade Memorial chapel. The only service there was a simple prayer by Bishop Leonard. The body was deposited in a crypt in the chapel to await final disposition at the will of the family.

NO SELFISH MOTIVE IN HANNA'S BENEVOLENCE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—Among the many letters of the late United States Senator M. A. Hanna that will be long preserved as mementos none perhaps is more illustrative of the dead statesman's character than the following note, written in the senator's hand, which accompanied a gift of $1,000 for St. Alexis hospital and was received several weeks previous to last fall's election:

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24, 1904.

L. A. Russell, Esq., City:

My Dear Russell—I saw your appeal in the paper this morning for St. Alexis hospital. When I visited that splendid institution I made up my mind then to respond to any call for help when needed.

Therefore I inclose my check for $1,000, with the request that no publicity is given to this contribution until after the election in November. I have never made a donation to a charitable institution in my life for political effect. Therefore, at this time, I do not want to be misunderstood. My respect for these good women who are doing such noble work would bring humiliation to me if I were even suspected of selfish motives. Sincerely yours,

M. A. HANNA.

ELOQUENT EULOGY TO DEAD SENATOR

Bishop Leonard Points Out the High Qualities in Life of Mr. Hanna.

REBUKE TO IDLE HARANGUES

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—At the funeral services of Senator Hanna at St. Paul's Episcopal church this afternoon Bishop Leonard delivered the following eulogy:

We are gathered here today in this house of God for the last service of benediction over the body of our distinguished citizen, our kindly friend and our beloved friend. The nation has honored him with its civic functions at the capitol of the United States; the commonwealth of Ohio by the hands of her governor has received him back into her care and keeping; the city has stood silently about his bier, reverencing his memory and sorrowing at his departure. And now the holy church would commit his body to the earth from whence it came, and his soul unto the righteous Saviour who redeemed it and who loved it with an infinite affection.

It is not the time or place for extended eulogy and praise; such words will be ably spoken by those well equipped for such a privilege. But there are certain qualities and characteristics of this great man which by all classes of people that ought assuredly to receive recognition in the midst of his friends and associates, and at this solemn hour. The testimonies that have been given from many and varied sources blend together in a common strain and harmony, as they speak of his high integrity, his inflexible and unbending purpose, and his tender, true heart. Their composite resultant seems to portray with unmistakable outline and detail the features of his human service.

Was Great and Good.

Those who are assembled here need no explanation for their love and estimation of this eventful life. We know him well, we loved him well, and more for him with a diminished sorrow because we shall see his face no more. But we may each of us so profit in the life God hath granted us, with added enthusiasm for our tasks and toils, since we have noted how worthily he did his duty for others; and we realize that the world is richer and better by the example of his greatness and goodness, more grateful for what he strove after and for what he accomplished.

And first, the universal comment is upon his integrity of character. In the life of Lincoln a fine, ringing address he made at Kenyon college last year when the degrees were being conferred upon its graduating class. And the thought he left with them, and with us, in eloquent words as he urged upon those men the essential importance of high and pure integrity. It is this word that is carven deep upon his life, that marks his long and useful business career.

He was not only honest, but he was fair and just in all his dealings. He was respected by every one in his business life, felt that in the master mind there was always the clear, unshakable element of integrity. His gold was tried, and his word was never broken or belittling or degrading. And such a course with such an actuating motive invites the antagonism of whatever is contemptible, false and unfair. And though he is a victim of envy, yet do they fall from such a shield harmlessly, and the champion sustained by his integrity stands forth unscathed and triumphant in the battle. He is an example to the young men of our country who would achieve success in any department of endeavor. And his advice is a legacy to the ardent youth of our great republic.

Dauntless in His Purposes.

Then, too, he was a purposeful man. He had definite objects before him. He had aims to achieve, goals to reach, standards to attain. Is he not conspicuous in this? The Apostle Paul speaks of a class of men who do nothing with a purpose, who "beat the air" rather than a conclusion, who never score a success because they "beat the air." How inflexible and dauntless in his purposes was this man we remember before God today.

Clear-visioned, quick in his perceptions, his diagnosis of a situation was rapid and searching. And then when he had determined upon his duty how persistently, how continually and patiently and fearlessly he moved towards his compassing. I think he would have disdained a mean or evil course. He would prefer to defeat than now. The people are quick to detect the deceiver, the charlatan, the corrupt. And this day, far and near, from high and low, rich and poor, goes forth to him a splendid verdict of praise and approval, because he chose the path of private and public rectitude, and that path is the straightest road to ultimate success.

And finally, how true and tender of heart he was. He reached the highest levels in life, but it did not spoil him. His good heart was unspoiled and free from pride or vain arrogance. Great men stoop down easily to those that are unable and obscure. Good men do the same. And if you wish a just estimate of how he was esteemed by his fellows you will find it among those who feared him not, because they knew his heart; they knew he was their friend. They knew he was sympathizer. Would you see him among the laborers on the dock, among the workmen of the mills, among the Salvation Army people, among the poor, and his coming would find him cordial, hearty, wholesome and friendly.

Do you note the signs of universal mourning and sympathy in our city and our state today? Do you realize the great calamity that a man and senator is dead, but because our dear friend is gone into the greater life and is hidden from our view.

Rebuke to Shallow Harangue.

Do you not recognize the reality of this man's genial, generous efficacy in the strenuous days those 2,000,000 toilers are offering while we worship here—the tribute that rebukes the noisy, shallow harangue which would inflame one class against another, and that tells the story of the unity of the vast industrial army for a righteous man, a strong leader, a considerate employer. The miners of the coal fields have come from the mines, they have laid down their picks and put out their lamps, that joining with you and me, they may honor this friend of the laboring man.

Yes, he was kind of heart and generous of impulse; hospitable, glad when others were happy, approachable, natural, clean of life, loved by children and by his helping him because he was so true and faithful.

And now we leave him with the Heavenly Father to whom he believed. Of course, he was human, his faults were human, also. He is our brother man in this. But God knows all about each one of us. He does not forget our services for the world. He never shuts his eyes to the good we do. He alone sees our motives and reads our innermost disposition and, taking our record with its flaws and imperfections, He works out of it all such good and lasting products and are pleasing in His sight.

And, therefore, into His loving care and keeping—into the hands of a merciful Saviour, we commend the soul of our friend. And whatever it lacked, whatever evil or stain may have shadowed its fair surface, He is able to wash out and purify in His most precious and awaking blood. With such a knowledge and such a trust we may turn our faces to the light and pray for a happy reunion with "the just made perfect," and a joyous resurrection in the last victorious day.

HANNA'S LAST LETTER WAS WRITTEN TO ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — President Roosevelt was the recipient of the last letter written by Senator Hanna. It was written on the Tuesday prior to his death and was purely a personal note acknowledging the president's thoughtfulness in expressing his personal interest in the senator's sickness. The letter now is in the hands of the senator's family. It is to be photographed for preservation. The original will be returned to the president who will preserve it carefully.

sung, past which vessels leaving Shanghai are compelled to pass. The Japanese anchored off the custom house. The commander of the Manchur obtained leave to land and consulted the Japanese consul at Shanghai. M. Pavlov, late minister to Seoul, was present. The commander offered to guarantee that the Manchur would remain in Shanghai until the end of hostilities. The guarantee was accepted by the Japanese on condition that the Manchur was dismantled of all her guns. The work of dismantlement was begun immediately.

M. Desmoe, the Russian agent; M. Pavloff and Baron von Rosen have issued a joint statement minimizing the damage to the Russian fleet, accusing the Japanese of treachery and denying that the enemy's victories are important. It is alleged here that Shanghai is being used as a diplomatic base for Russia to secure the assistance of France. Shanghai fears the imperilment of the neutrality of the port.

Dairy Evacuated.

The city of Dalny is virtually being evacuated by the Russians, who are leaving only a sufficient military force at Port Arthur to hold the stronghold against any assault that may be made on it by the Japanese. Trains along the line of the Manchurian railway are so frequent that they are almost in an unbroken line as far north as Mukden.

Thousands of refugees are crowding into Niuchwang, where recent arrivals of large numbers of soldiers have so decreased the food supply that government officials are being appealed to to take charge of all the stores there and prevent extortion.

Intense arctic weather prevails, and the suffering of the travelers is extreme both from cold and lack of provisions or quarters wherein they may obtain shelter.

At Mukden confusion is supreme. Enormous quantities of military stores are being moved, and these so block the railway, having the right of way, that it is difficult to get out of the city if one is bound north.

THE ALTERATIONS WERE EVIDENT

Third Ward Election-Count Methods Being Investigated by District Attorney.

JUDGE SHAFER ASTOUNDED

Third ward election methods were fully ventilated before the court yesterday, and to say that the judges were astounded by the developments, is putting it mildly. It was evident that they had never heard anything like it before. The First district election board's ways astonished the judges so much that District Attorney Robert E. Stewart was called in and advised to investigate the matter.

The returning board began its sittings yesterday to make the official count of the returns of Tuesday's election. The First and Second wards were counted and the board proceeded to the count of the Third ward. Judge J. D. Shafer, who, with Judge Marshall Brown, is a member of the returning board, directed that the returns from the Second district be counted first. This was done, and then the board returned to the First district.

Composition of the Boards.

The election board of the First district was composed of adherents of John Goodwin and J. A. O'Neil, Republican candidates for select and common council. The Second district board consisted of friends of Dr. W. H. McKelvy and Francis Bonini, Citizens party candidates for select and common council. Both boards had refused to give out the result of a vote on the night of the election, the Second district board making its returns to the prothonotary at 2 p. m. on Wednesday and the First district making none until Thursday afternoon. The law provides that the vote must be posted outside the polling place as soon as counted, and the returns must be made to the prothonotary by 2 p. m. the day following the election.

Judge Shafer examined closely the return sheet of the First district. According to it John Goodwin received 150 votes for select council and Dr. McKelvy 33, while J. A. O'Neil received 152 votes for common council and Francis Bonini 36. The judge held that alterations had been made. Totals had been obliterated by heavy smears of ink and at the right new totals were written in. It was a very "messy" looking sheet of paper that the judge held in his hands. He would not permit the vote to be recorded, and asked whether any of the election officers were present.

Two Counts Were Made.

Frank A. Hopper, the minority overseer, took the stand. He said that two counts of the ballots were made. The first count showed that 128 votes had been cast, McKelvy receiving 33 and Goodwin 95; Bonini 36 and O'Neil 92. This sheet was signed by Hopper, Severio Gigliotti, who was minority inspector, and the rest of the board. Some hours later the other members having refused to put the ballots into the box, another count was made and this time Goodwin received 159 votes and O'Neil 152, there being no change in the vote for McKelvy and Bonini. Hopper demanded that his signature be cancelled, and he and Gigliotti noted a protest below their names, which protests were shown to have been blotted out afterward. Hopper said the changes were made by Michael Goodwin, under the direction of Charles Garber, judge of election.

Judge Shafer remarked that the sheet showed that alterations had been made and he directed that processes be issued for Michael Goodwin, Charles Garber and Harvey Neidick, the election officers, and that William P. Hiemann, majority inspector, be directed to come before the court, too. At 3 p. m. the men appeared.

Information for the Court.

Judge Shafer held the sheet in his hand and as he contemplated it he shook his head dubiously, for really, mistakes. He asked Garber why he had not filed the returns with the prothonotary within the time specified by law. Garber said the count had not been finished until 6 p. m., after which it was found that all the ballots had not been taken out of the box, and he was sick on Wednesday and could not go to the prothonotary. Goodwin admitted that he had made the alterations and blots under orders from the "proper election officer."

"When were these triplicate returns sheets signed?" asked Judge Shafer.

"Oh, they were signed before we counted the votes," said Goodwin.

Gigliotti contradicted Goodwin and Garber. He said the count was finished by 11 p. m. and all the officers signed the sheets. He saw in one of the election booths a number of official ballots already marked for Goodwin and O'Neil. Later a re-count was made and additional ballots were found in the box increasing the number from 128 to 132.

Judge Did Not Believe It.

When Goodwin told the judge that the blots were necessitated by mistakes, Judge Shafer said: "Don't tell me that it was a mistake. The vote was increased from 128 to 132. I notice that all the increase went into the Republican column and none of it into the Citizens column."

Finally the judge remarked: "Enough of this nonsense. You can't make us believe any such stories."

The three election officers were told to sit down, and District Attorney Robert E. Stewart was summoned.

"I am expressing no opinion as to the criminality of the action of this board, Maj. Stewart," said Judge Shafer, "but I would suggest that you examine into the matter closely and take such action as you may deem fit."

Maj. Stewart took no immediate action and Garber, Goodwin and Neidick were permitted to leave the court room. The district attorney said he would make no information until he had sifted the matter.

The returning board determined the First district vote to be as follows: Goodwin, 95; McKelvy, 33; O'Neil, 92; Bonini, 36. The result in the Second district overcame this district majority of the Republican candidates and McKelvy and Bonini will be declared elected. Even the larger vote, as returned by the First district board, did not give the Republican candidates a majority.

TWO PERSONS FINED.

State Officials Start a Crusade Against Alleged Violators of Food Laws.

All persons in this vicinity who do not conform to the law in regard to the sale of renovated butter and oleomargarine will be prosecuted and fined, H. L. Banzhoff, a special agent having been sent here to conduct the crusade by Dr. V. H. Warren, state dairy and food commissioner. Already two persons have been prosecuted. Mrs. Elizabeth Donahue of stand 25, Diamond market, was fined $100 on a charge of selling renovated butter and oleomargarine without a government license. Robert Risch, local manager for Nelson Morris & Co., was also fined $100 for not having a government license. Mr. Banzhoff said:

We also will go after all persons who sell adulterated foods of any kind. The makers of renovated butter are required to take out a license at a cost of $1,000, the person who wholesales it must pay $500 annually, and the retailer must pay $100. Hotel keepers are required to take out a license at a cost of $50, and boarding house keepers must pay $10. In addition to paying for these licenses the person selling the product must mark all packages in letters not less than a half inch in length, "Renovated Butter." Renovated butter is "worked-over" butter. It may have been made six months previous to the time it is sold. It is asserted that all scraps are removed from it after it is put through a boiling process. Whether this be true or not I don't care to say. Personally I do not believe that renovated butter is healthful. I have had examined some of the oleomargarine now being sold, but cannot say if coloring is used in its manufacture. The law prohibits coloring, and such a high tax has been placed on oleomargarine that dealers cannot possibly sell it at 20 cents a pound and make a profit. I regard "worked-over" butter, or renovated butter, as it is recognized by the law, as worse than oleomargarine.

Insurance Agent Robbed.

Joseph Horoff, an insurance agent of Munhall, was robbed of $55 by three negroes in Twentieth avenue, Homestead, last evening. One negro held a revolver against Horoff while the other two went through his pockets. This makes the tenth hold-up that has occurred in Homestead in the last two weeks.

TAX LEVY IS NOT TO BE INCREASED

Select Council Will Approve Appropriations as Fixed by Common Council.

WIGHTMAN CALLS A MEETING

The appropriation bills will pass select council in practically the same shape as they were approved by common council. A special meeting of select council was called yesterday by President J. Smiley Wightman for next Monday afternoon, notwithstanding it is Washington's birthday. Solicitor W. B. Rodgers' advice was obtained yesterday before the call was issued. Mr. Rodgers said the session would not be illegal because Monday would be a legal holiday.

"I believe select council will pass the appropriation bills just as they are without any amendments," said President Wightman. "It is my opinion select council will simply concur in the action of common council and that the appropriations will not be delayed by referring them to the finance committee of our branch."

Director Moore said yesterday that the appropriations as fixed by common council for the department of public safety were satisfactory to him.

President Wightman said the salary bill for the public works department would probably be passed by select council Monday. The bill was reported to select council affirmatively a couple of weeks ago, on the eve of the election, but it was recommitted because several members took advantage of it to manufacture campaign material for themselves by proposing increases for employes indiscriminately.

Mayor William B. Hays said yesterday that the tax levy for 1904 would be 12½ mills and that the appropriations would not be altered materially. The administration has approved the bond issue proposed by the Orphans joint finance committee and will probably increase it slightly by making provision for an engine house and let in the Twenty-second ward. It is not believed the bond issue will be over $1,000,000, and Solicitor W. B. Rodgers will advise councils of its right to authorize a bond issue of this amount without a vote of the people.

ILLNESS OF JOHN W. HILL PREVENTED A MEETIMG

Commission of Filtration Experts Will Frame Report Next Week.

The three experts comprising the filtration commission appointed by Pittsburgh councils were to have held a meeting yesterday in Philadelphia to frame a report, but the meeting was postponed for a week on account of the illness of John W. Hill, one of the members of the commission and chief engineer of the filtration plant at Philadelphia.

In framing the report to be presented to the finance committee of Pittsburgh councils on or before March 1, the other two experts, Rudolph Hering, of New York, and Col. A. W. Miller, of Washington, D. C., will go to Philadelphia to confer with Mr. Hill.

The members of the commission have made a personal inspection of the big filter plants completed at the Upper and Lower Roxborough basins, near Philadelphia, and those in process of construction at Torresdale and Belmont. They have also secured numerous photographs of the different plants, as well as drawings and when they meet they will formulate a report and forward it to Pittsburgh. This report, it is said, will closely follow the lines of the Philadelphia system, although not on such an extensive scale.

Claim Penny Was Marked.

Through the finding of a marked penny among money alleged to have been deposited at the Homewood bank by John Elliott of 7324 Bennett street, Elliott, and Thurston Anderson of 7244 Monticello street, have been arrested. It is alleged that the money deposited by Elliott was taken from a slot machine in the pool room of M. J. Brobeck at Frankstown avenue and Sterrett street, which was robbed Sunday morning.

Braddock Doctors Banquet.

The Braddock Medical society last evening held a banquet in the directors' room of the Carnegie library. Dr. James A. Miller was master of ceremonies. Dr. Alfred W. Schooley responded to the toast. Librarian George H. Lamb gave an interesting talk. The decorations were skulls and crossbones.

Breakdowns Close a Mill.

The bar mill at the W. Dewees Wood sheet steel plant in McKeesport broke down yesterday. All departments in the plant except the hammer and finishing shops have been shut down due to accidents to the machinery, and about 500 men are idle.

MOORE HAS FOUND WOMAN IN CASE

Director Secured Sworn Statement Denying Graft Charges of Councilman Stevenson.

CORROBORATED BANK CLERK

Director Harry Moore has found the woman in the Second ward who Councilman W. H. Stevenson charged had withdrawn $3,500 from a downtown bank to pay political assessments, the woman yesterday making a sworn statement denying the charges made by Councilman Stevenson.

The discovery of the woman's name by Director Moore was accidental. At the conference of Director Moore with Councilman Stevenson, a few days ago, the bank clerk refused to give the woman's name, although Director Moore gave his pledge that no harm would come to the woman.

The statement of the bank clerk that the amount drawn by the woman from the bank was small gave Director Moore the only clue he had to work on. He remembered that a lawyer had called at his office a few days before to intercede for a woman whose house had been closed by the police on account of a robbery that had taken place there. The lawyer had told the director that he had been offered $25 by the woman to have her house reopened.

The woman in question, Flora Williams, 5 Cherry alley, yesterday called at the director's office and asked permission to reopen her house, which has been closed about a month. During the conversation she said she was the woman who was supposed to have had a talk with the bank clerk about drawing out money, but she denied that she had made the statements attributed to her by Councilman Stevenson. The director asked her a number of questions and the conversation was taken down by the director's chief clerk, Elias John, and sworn to by the woman, the chief clerk being a notary, administering the oath.

The Williams woman swore that all the money she had in the bank was $200, and that she had given the bank a notice on December 10 that she was going to draw the money out. She said she took the money out to pay her sister $300, she owed her, $40 for a month's rent on her house, which had been closed by the police, $20 rent for her house in the East End, where she lives, and that she still had $210 left. The balance she had spent for ordinary expenses. She said she had not paid a dollar for political assessments and did not tell the clerk that she intended to pay anything for political purposes.

"When I was drawing my money out the clerk asked me if I was going to quit the bank," she said, "and I told him that I was only taking my money out to 'pay up.' I did not mean by this that I was going to pay political assessments. I meant simply that I was going to pay my debts, and to do this I had to draw upon my bank account."

HUNTING MORE SPORTS.

Additional Arrests to Be Made as Result of Raid on Cocking Main.

Fourteen men put up forfeits of $25 each, two who did not have the cash went to jail, the police are looking for between 30 and 40 sports, most of whom are known and a good many of whom are prominent citizens of Carnegie and thereabout, and 23 roosters were captured as a result of a raid on a cocking main in a barn several miles back of Carnegie Thursday night. Supt. J. S. Bell and Agents H. S. Shaw, W. G. Stanley and E. W. Thompson, Constable R. L. McMillan of Bridgeville and J. J. Chivers, after a long tramp, found the barn, in which was fitted up one of the finest mains ever arranged in this county. The officers were not recognized and had no trouble in getting into the place on the payment of $1.

When the signal for the raid was made there was a grand rush to escape. The police went after only those they did not know, depending on informations to capture the ones known. Hearings will be held this afternoon by Justice of the Peace Russell, when the game cocks will be sold also.

New Camp Is Organized.

A camp of the Sons of Veterans was organized in Braddock yesterday. 43 members being initiated. A temporary organization was formed with C. E. Parsons as chairman, T. J. Qualey secretary, and Oliver P. Benson treasurer. Addresses were made by Samuel T. Hart, past commander of Major A. M. Harper post, and G. C. Braddock; Joel Cruikshank of the same post; Capt. W. R. Wilhide, Capt. George English and Lieut. Forbes R. Wilhide, members of Camp 162 of Pittsburgh. The new camp is to be named in honor of Capt. William R. Jones, who built the Edgar Thomson Steel works and blast furnaces. He organized a camp of the order about 22 years ago which flourished until his death and was then disbanded.

BOOMING M'KEE FOR A GOOD JOB

Workers in Three Big Wards Think He Deserves to Be Police Superintendent.

CITIZENS LEADERS CONFERRED

A boom for James M. McKee as superintendent of police was begun yesterday, and the workers of the Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first wards are shouting for him. They think it was McKee who was the instrument of the Citizens' party's victory in these three wards.

The leaders of the Citizens party, Mayor Hays, the two Bigelows and Murry A. Verner, were closeted in the mayor's office a long time yesterday afternoon. Whether they were discussing a harmony arrangement with the Republicans or considering the filling of the vacancies in the police bureau was not learned from any of them, but after the conference adjourned the talk of McKee for superintendent of police began. One man said: "Jim McKee will be the next superintendent of police," but questioning developed that he was not so sure that McKee could have the appointment, but rather thought the administration ought to give McKee the place.

After Mayor Hays left his office fresh from his conference with the Bigelow brothers and Verner, he was asked what the conference was all about.

"We talked of matters in general,' replied the mayor.

"How about the appointments? Now that the election is over are you going to appoint a superintendent and assistant superintendent of police and fill the places of captains and lieutenants now filled temporarily by sergeants and patrolmen?"

"That's so," said the mayor, as if the thing had only occurred to him. "Yes, we'll have to make the appointments soon. Who will be appointed? I don't know."

The Republican association of the Seventh legislative district will meet on Saturday afternoon, February 27. This is the district in which the chairman of the Republican county committee, Thomas J. Ford, lives. Possible legislative candidates will be discussed and something will be said about the delegates to the state and national conventions.

John B. Moore of the Seventh ward is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the legislature in the Third legislative district. L. B. Cook, the present incumbent is a candidate for the renomination and has Mayor Hays' promise to support him.

A story was circulated that Clarence Burleigh would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the Third district. Mr. Burleigh said he would not be a candidate against James Francis Burke, who desires the Republican nomination.

W. S. Guffey declared it as his opinion that the Citizens have control of both branches and that the town would be "wide open."

CONTRACTS FOR CITY FUEL.

Award Was to Same Company That Held It Last Year.

The contract to supply the Brilliant pumping station with fuel in 1904 was again awarded to the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company yesterday by Mayor William B. Hays and Director E. M. Bigelow. The company agrees to furnish coal at the following rates: Lump coal, 8 1-8 cents per bushel; run of mine, 7 1-2 cents; nut, 8 1-2 cents; nut and slack, 8 3-4 cents, and slack, 5 1-4 cents.

Herron Hill, Garfield and Lincoln pumping stations use gas for fuel, and the contract was awarded the People's Gas Company at 15 cents per thousand feet. The contract for raising the remaining buildings in Diamond street and Walnut street, East End, was given to the Thomas Cronin Company for $1,125.

BURNS FACTION WINNING.

Glass Manufacturers to Advance Prices and Accept the Philadelphia Scale.

The indications are the Burns faction of window glass workers is pushing to the rear the opposing faction. The leading glass manufacturers are signing the Burns scale and many men who joined the Phillips faction are returning to the old organization.

Realizing this, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has issued a notice cancelling the former quotations and announcing that new prices will be given upon application. This method is usually resorted to when prices are to be advanced. The advancing of prices means the manufacturers will be able to pay the Philadelphia scale and the new scale arranged by the Phillips organization will be ignored. This will force all the seceding members into the Burns faction.

WALTON MAKES A LAST INSPECTION

Maj. J. W. Patterson Post, G. A. R., Honors the Department Commander and Staff.

The comrades of J. W. Patterson post last night entertained the G. A. R. department commander, Edwin Walton, and his staff at the post's headquarters on the South Side. It was the last of the series of inspections which the department commander has been making of the posts in Pittsburgh and vicinity. After it was over he and his staff left for their homes. It was an open meeting, and the post hall was crowded.

Past Senior Vice Commander A. P. Burchfield presided and introduced the speakers. Comander Walton said he had found the posts all in flourishing condition. Assistant Adjutant General Charles A. Snyder was introduced a second time as a "soloist singer." He began the time of "John Brown's Body" and the audience arose and joined in the refrain. Speeches were made by Chief Mustering Officer Charles O. Smith, Past Junior Vice Commander Scott and Past Chief Mustering Officer Thomas Z. Jones. The Eureka quartet sang several songs.

HOSTETTER'S Stomach Bitters

CORRECTS THE LIVER.

High Livers, and those who persist in eating things they ought not to, always pay the penalty. The stomach gets "out of order," the bowels become constipated and the liver inactive. Severe Headaches, Coated Tongue, Bad Breath, Yellow Skin, Sleepless Nights and Impure Blood are signals of impending danger. Here's where Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will be found beneficial. A dose before meals and at bed-time will strengthen the stomach, restore the liver to its normal condition and remove "that bilious feeling." It is also unequaled for DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND MALARIA, FEVER AND AGUE. Give it a trial.

EXCELLENT PROOF

B. Bernard, Bay City, Mich., says:
"My liver was continually getting out of order and dark spots would appear on my face. A friend recommended your Bitters which cured me and now an occasional dose keeps my liver healthy."

Wm. Belk, Delta, La., says:
"I cheerfully recommend your Bitters as a splendid family medicine and blood purifier. It is also invaluable for Malaria, Chills and Fever."

FOR RESTORING STRENGTH AFTER SICKNESS IT IS UNEQUALED.

In the debate on the naval appropriation bill, Mr. Fitzgerald drew a parallel between President Roosevelt and Emperor William. There may be some points of resemblance, but there is absolutely nothing that can be used as an argument against increasing the naval strength of this country. The German emperor is shrewd enough to know the value of a good navy, and in that particular he and our president are alike. Japan appreciated the same fact. Russia did not. There is enough said. Build the navy.

Explanations concerning the Third ward election will be made in court, the judges having summoned the entire board of the First district. Enough is apparent on the surface to warrant close scrutiny and investigation. The court has taken a commendable course in undertaking this inquiry, and there is no doubt the findings will be absolutely just. The suffrage is the most sacred heritage of the American people and every effort to tamper with the ballot should be rigorously dealt with in the interest of the present and the future welfare of the people.

Our consul general at Frankfort reports that in the active search for substances containing radium, the discovery has been made in the course of investigation at the University of Freiburg that petroleum wells possess a heavy gas whose radiations are similar to and probably identical with radium. The by-products of petroleum have already become numerous and valuable, but if radium should be included among them an enormous addition will be made to the wealth Pennsylvania derives from her oil wells. Radium is by far the most expensive substance known. Weight for weight, diamonds are cheap in comparison. But it may be found difficult to secure the radium supposed to be in the "heavy gas" of oil wells.

In the course of his eulogy over the bier of Senator Marcus Alonzo Hanna, the officiating bishop called attention to the most remarkable tribute of all paid to the honored dead—the suspension of work by the miners. Throughout many states the men laid down their picks and extinguished their lamps out of respect for one who had been representative of the employing class. Mark Hanna was an operator of coal mines as well as a manufacturer. It is said he never had a strike on the part of his men and never had a dispute of more than a few days' duration. But this was not the sum of his record that called for the high tribute from the miners. He was ever active in promoting better conditions and better relations between employer and employed. He was never too busy to give time to the healing of a breach, or the task of increasing the mutual respect of master and man. His death is a loss to the nation that may not soon be fully compensated.

Commenting upon the near approach of the end of the third year of the United States Steel Corporation, the Wall Street Journal gives some interesting statistics. Estimating the revenues not yet reported, the total net earnings for the three years aggregates $342,000,000 in round numbers, an average of $9,500,000 a month. It is true that more than two years of this period were in the era of the greatest prosperity known to this country, but there are several months of leanness in the average. It is a good showing. There is nothing about it to warrant the depreciation of the corporation's securities that has taken place. Earnings for the past six months fully justify the continuance of the preferred dividend, and there is a very considerable surplus on hand as a basis for higher valuation of the common. There may be other lean months, but these will be marked by greater economies in operation and in time there will come booming prosperity again, with increased profits from the application of the economical processes.

A memorial recently addressed to the government at Peking gives striking evidence of the growth of national spirit in China and the stimulus given to it by the war between Russia and Japan. Ting Fang, viceroy of Yun-nan, prepared the memorial which he communicated to the viceroys of other provinces. The memorial contrasts the power of Japan to resist Russian aggression with the helplessness of China. It is urged that the imperial government should give solemn pledges to introduce immediate reforms whereby the administration and military forces of the empire should be raised to the standard prevailing among western powers. Such language is startling in its boldness, coming from a Chinese official and addressed to the throne. A feature of the memorial which occasions anxiety among the powers now considering Secretary Hay's neutrality proposals, is that it declares that neutrality is impossible, the fate of the dynasty and the independence of the Chinese people being at stake.

According to rules recently adopted by the Altoona board of health, barbers are prohibited from shaving consumptives "at the communicable stage of the disease," and cows from which milk is sold must be inspected by a veterinarian for tuberculosis at least once a year. Obviously Dr. Robert Koch's recantation of his bovine tuberculosis theory has no standing with the wise men who deal with the sanitary affairs of Altoona. To them consumption is a communicable disease and bovine tuberculosis is a menace to humanity. The experiments of Dr. Koch and many other scientists, which tend to disprove the latter theory, are discarded as worthless because there is no employment of veterinarians attached to them. Their standard of science is probably correctly indicated by the proscription of the shaving of consumptives in the "communicable stage of the disease" and the leaving to the barbers the discretion to decide whether the patient is in that stage. Upon the authority of many very eminent physicians the barbers may well contend that there is no such stage.

Limiting the War.

While the text of Russia's reply to the note of Secretary of State Hay—handed to Ambassador McCormick yesterday—is not made public, the government at Washington construes it as "responsive to our note." Previous information from St. Petersburg justifies the assumption that Russia makes some reservations, or, maybe we should say, specifications as to the theater of war. At any rate, the state department at Washington immediately communicated the Russian decision to China and Japan.

Japan almost simultaneously sent to the Chinese government a communication giving positive assurance that the war is not, on its side, one of conquest, and that Japan will respect Chinese sovereignty during and after the conflict, confining military operations to the smallest possible space of Chinese soil. The Japanese note to China is couched in very positive but friendly terms and exhibits the desire of that nation to go the fullest length in acceding to Secretary Hay's proposal.

Russia's attitude is inferred the more readily that as soon as its reply was ready for delivery to the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, France issued belated instructions to its citizens everywhere how to observe the neutrality of their government. These instructions may possibly result in driving the Russian warships which recently passed the Suez canal, going eastward, from their asylum in the French port of Jibutil, on the Red Sea. The ships, however, can return to European waters without danger of molestation by the Japanese. China, too, may now be expected to declare neutrality, which may put the Russian cruiser Mandjur in a more difficult position. It remains at Shanghai in violation of the neutrality laws, and if it leaves that port will almost certainly fall into the hands of the Japanese warships which are cruising about those waters, investigating merchantmen suspected of carrying contraband of war to northern ports.

Whatever effect these declarations may have upon stray vessels of the belligerent nations the course of the diplomatic negotiations is very satisfactory. Every assurance in response to Secretary Hay's note not only tends to limit the area of disturbance caused by the war between Russia and Japan, but tends also to lessen the chance of involving other powers. It is easy to see how the conflict going on between two powers could spread and become the world war so long feared by statesmen of all continents. The European alliances with the belligerents create a sensitive situation that needs to be handled with care and tact. Interference with, or by, China might provoke an explosion, the consequences of which can only be conjectured. It is highly creditable to the United States that it was in a position to inaugurate the neutrality proposals, and that it has been able to conduct the negotiations to such satisfactory conclusions.

To Save an Innocent Man.

Caleb Powers, former secretary of state of Kentucky, desires another chance to secure justice. He is now in prison under sentence of death for complicity in the murder of William Goebel. He is the victim of political persecution, there being no competent evidence adduced in any of his trials to indicate that he had anything whatever to do with the killing of Goebel. He has been tried by political opponents only. His last trial was in a county that gave a majority for McKinley for president, yet a jury of Democrats exclusively was selected to try his case.

On March 17 a motion will be argued before the Kentucky court of appeals for a new trial for Mr. Powers. If this fails Mr. Powers desires to appeal to the supreme court of the United States. He has, however, exhausted his resources in defending himself against a false accusation, and also the resources of his friends. In this extremity Mr. Powers appeals to lovers of justice everywhere to aid him. This, he says, grieves him very much and he resorts to it only after "four years of relentless, powerful and moneyed prosecution." He adds: "And during all this time I have been wrongfully deprived of my liberty and denounced as an assassin."

The Gazette believes Caleb Powers to be innocent of all blame for the assassination of William Goebel. It believes the $100,000 fund voted by the Kentucky legislature for the detection and prosecution of Goebel's murderers has become a corruption fund administered for partisan purposes, and that it has probably destroyed all chance of the arrest and conviction of the real murderers. Persons against whom there was a reasonable presumption of guilt have been allowed to go free in consideration of their willingness to testify, without the slightest appearance of truth, against the accused Republican officials who held the state offices at the time Goebel was shot. The proceedings have constituted a travesty upon justice.

Under these circumstances The Gazette will receive and forward any contribution that may be made for the defense of Caleb Powers, if the court of appeals of his state grants him a new trial, or for the appeal to the supreme court of the United States if his appeal to the state court is denied. Pittsburgh is a justice-loving community, and we are confident it will contribute something to secure justice for this persecuted young man in Kentucky. To be of any account the funds must be subscribed now and not after the argument on March 17, for if the motion is then denied the appeal to the United States court must be made at once. The execution of Caleb Powers, if carried out, will put an ineradicable stain upon the name of Kentucky, and the nation will not be guiltless unless it provides the means for his proper defense. The Gazette will receive, acknowledge and transmit any funds received for the purpose.

The Business Situation.

The weather is always more or less of a factor in business operations, and it has been the most prominent one the past week. From the Atlantic to the Pacific the northern tier of states suffered from extremely low temperature. In the middle tier the weather averaged below zero and the cold wave extended farther south than for years. With the thermometer registering from zero to 30 degrees below over a vast stretch of territory there has necessarily been a suspension of ordinary outdoor work, and the railroads traversing this frigid zone have experienced great difficulty in maintaining operations. The freight congestion in the Pittsburgh district, as well as in some portions of the east, is largely attributable to the cold weather. One of the consequences has been a restriction in the output and movement of coal and coke, and a falling off in other lines of trade. The old-fashioned winter, however, has stimulated the demand for seasonable goods and reduced surplus stocks to a minimum.

In the iron market business is still pretty much of a hand-to-mouth character, although there were additional indications that the railroads are coming to the views of the rail makers. It is currently reported that orders for 125,000 tons of steel rails are about to be placed by roads which have been holding off for concessions from the quoted price of $28 a ton. Last week orders for 53,000 tons were placed which had been similarly held back. Now that the movement has started, it is probable that other roads will come into the market. This action should have a good influence upon buyers of other descriptions of iron and steel.

Grain and provision markets have displayed a wonderful degree of activity and strength. Wheat advanced to $1 03 for the May option in Chicago, the highest price for years, and the export price is now above the highest average for any year since 1884. For several months past the upward movement in wheat has been ascribed to manipulation, similar to that which occurred in cotton. At the present time, however, it appears that the manipulators have been aided by legitimate events, which may possibly carry the price of wheat relatively as high as that reached for cotton. Next to the United States, Russia is the largest shipper of wheat, and then come the Balkan states. With Russia at war in the far east, and with the threat of an uprising in the Balkans, the shipments of grain from these countries may be seriously interrupted, which would stimulate the demand for the exportable surplus of the United States and Argentina. This is the argument of the "bulls," and it has been influential enough to cause strong and excited markets all over the world.

The stagnation that has overtaken the market for stocks and bonds is more pronounced than for years. In Wall street values have not been seriously affected, but in all the foreign markets there have been sharp declines in government securities, reflecting the spirit of apprehension over a spread of the troubles in the orient.

Domestic money markets remain dull and easy, while foreign money markets display a hardening tendency. Discount rates of the Bank of England and the Imperial Bank of Germany have remained unchanged, but the rate of the Imperial Bank of Russia was advanced 1 per cent for the first time in two years. The foreign trade statement issued during the week showed an excess of exports over imports of merchandise amounting to more than $59,000,000 for the month of January, which with one exception is the largest balance for any corresponding month in our history. This was in the face of a falling off in our exports of cotton and breadstuffs. If the "war scare" results in increased exports of wheat and provisions, which now seems likely, our monetary position in the world's money markets would be further strengthened by an accumulation of credits abroad, which would place foreign gold supplies at our command.

The Philadelphia Inquirer says that "the Ohio legislature is not expected to fill Hanna's place, but only to put somebody in it." Does the Inquirer recall that prior to 1898 the selection of Mark Hanna to succeed John Sherman would not have been described as filling Sherman's place, but only as putting somebody in it? In 1897, however, Mr. Hanna was put in Sherman's place, and the result was eminently satisfactory.

Admiral Alexieff's determination to fall back upon Harbin is a wise one, as it is reported to be out of range of the guns of the Japanese warships.

The Quiet Observer

ERASMUS WILSON.

As a rule we get all that is coming to us while we live. However, it so happens sometimes that men are long dead before the world is ready to concede what justly belongs to them.

That is not only true of really great men—men who live long after they are dead—but of many who are accidentally of unintentionally kept out of that to which they are justly entitled.

The really great man only began to live while in this life. His days are all spent in building for the future and somehow he seems to include himself in his work.

A really great work of art, one in which the artist has wrought himself, cannot be successfully copied or reproduced. The copiest may make a more finished, a brighter and more attractive picture, but it will lack the soul of the artist, and for that reason it becomes simply a decorative picture, while the original retains a sort of magic power, a spirit that is readily recognized by kindred or sympathetic spirits. And its spirit never dies. Hence immortal works of art.

A map of America, made in 1810, and which was responsible for the naming of the new world for Americus Vespucci, instead of calling it Columbia in honor of Christopher Columbus, will be one of the interesting relics exhibited at the World's fair from the vatican.

The map was made at the town of Saint Die, Lorraine, by Martin Waldseemuller, and was recently found by Prof. Fisher. In preparing a map of the world, as it was then known, Waldseemuller happened across a letter from Americus Vespucci to his patron, Lorenzo de Medici, dated 1501, in which he referred to the newly-discovered continent. Waldseemuller marked this practicall unknown terra firma America, as he had first heard of it through Americus Vespucci. The latter probably never knew that the new land had been called by his name, and it was not his fault that Columbus did not receive the honor due for making the discovery.

This would not disturb the mind or heart of a real discoverer to any great extent, for he would be so intent on his work that it would make but little difference what names were given to his discoveries.

To the earnest, enthusiastic investigator, explorer or inventor, that which follow his discoveries does not interest him as much as did that which preceeded them. Not that he is not proud of his work, but he was more interested in the pursuit of results than in idly surveying them. Besides he is ambitious to achieve other and greater results.

Just here is where many of them fall down, so to speak, and not unfrequently lose all they had made in efforts to achieve something greater.

It is the old story of genius—skill without practical business sense. And only too often, as is the case with inventors, the friendly advice of successful business men is turned down because it does not coincide with their visionary notions. The wise inventor gives the business end of the thing to one who has been as successful in business as he has been in his own work.

* * * * *

The all-around man is never notably brilliant, nor does he often, if ever, become highly distinguished, except as a good neighbor, a stanch friend or model citizen.

The specialist, the man with a hobby and the genius catch the public eye because they rise above the heads of average men in their particular place on the horizon. It is the unusual that attracts particular attention, and mainly because it is unusual, and not because of its real merit. Many of these blaze and shine for a time like a new star and then decrease in magnitude to a point below those which attract no unusual attention.

However, were it not for such as these in every walk of life our existence here would become exceedingly monotonous and uninteresting. You know yourself how tired you become looking at the same old things every time you enter the house, or of sitting down to the same table and the same bill of fare every day in the year, and of meeting the same people and hearing the same stories over and over again.

Something new, even if it hasn't great merit, breaks the monotony. A new face, though it be plain, a strange voice which may be cracked, a fad that may be void of sense and taste, brings grateful relief to a monotonous social circle.

* * * * *

Meteors flash up frequently in the social world, and occasionally a comet hoves in sight that compels the attention of all, both great and small. Gradually the people become used to it and then its brightness begins to fade, and the more familiar and commonplace it becomes the lower it sinks and is finally lost among the fixed stars.

A musical soiree in a community awakens musical taste, for all, and stimulates the better talent to greater effort. When these have reached his level he ceases to shine with special brilliancy; but he has done a good work, and the community is all the better for his having come into it.

Were it not for the genius and the crank the world's rate of progress would slow down to a standstill. This is clearly proven by the present conditions of the people and affairs in the far east. In Persia, India and even in Palestine, the meces of crowds of tourists, things are as they were hundreds, if not thousands of years ago. The same sights and sounds are to be seen and heard in Jerusalem that were familiar to St. Paul, while the Egyptian totes water in a pig skin as did Joseph and his brethren when they journeyed thither in search of corn with which to stay the famine in their own country.

A diversity of gifts, as well as of tastes, are essential to human progress. Hence a marked tendency to decay when a people become subject to one mind, and are not encouraged to vie with each other in all things that make for the comfort and betterment of all.

A religion that does not allow freedom of thought, or a system of education that does not encourage the investigation of all that interests the people, only hinder progress and tend to reduce men to mere machines.

Too much rivalry among schools and religious denominations may lead to bad results, as extreme measures and methods always do.

It is to the reaction from these extremes that we most confidently look for good, stable results. Souls crushed to extreme views gradually dwindle away, and arbitrary and extreme religious dogmas give place to more humane and common sense doctrines.

While these reactionary movements are apt to continue too far they stop short of the extreme limit and, pendulum like, gradually gravitate toward a point of rest until they receive a new impulse.

* * * * *

The practical business man does not see clearly why there should be two, or three, or more churches within speaking distance of each other, particularly when one building would accommodate them all, and constitute a much stronger and more efficient congregation, at the same time being far more economical.

True, this might throw a number of good men out of comfortable positions; but if it was for the good of the cause they would naturally be expected to make the sacrifice. Therefore, the only question to be seriously considered is whether such a combination of forces, such harmony of thought and feeling, and such unity of purpose would be helpful to the cause.

All this stands to reason, and will be cheerfully acceded to by thoughtful, practical people, and yet the war, or rather the rivalry of denominations goes on.

Denominationalism does very well, or at least better than nothing, among those who cannot or do not try to understand the object and purpose of Christianity. These often take so much pride in their church that they will work unstringly for it, which they would not do for the cause of Christianity without regard to church or creed. This feeling was more general in the past than it at present. Many of you may be able to recall the bitterness of feeling that used to exist between churches of different denominations, sometimes amounting almost to feuds.

Answers to Correspondents.

J. P., Carnegie—Assuredly the bill can be legally collected. If you have no real or personal property a judgment rendered against you would seem to be about the limit of any legal proceedings.

C. S. M., Allegheny—Blanche Kelso Bruce, a negro, born in 1841, became a United States senator from Mississippi in 1875, the first negro member of the national senate. He was also register of the treasury for a number of years. Mr. Bruce died in 1898.

Talked of in Gotham

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—If there is anything that makes Senator John Raines mad it is to mention the "Raines law" in his presence and to smile when you do it. He distinctly disavows the working of the excise law which bears his name. It was he who introduced it into the state legislature, and he worked hard until it was passed and signed by the governor. But he insists that he never intended his measure to be an excuse for the notorious conditions prevailing in the numerous dives which are generally known as "Raines law hotels." It is conceded that there never was another reform measure which bore such extraordinary fruit as has this statute fathered by Senator Raines. From the first it was twisted to all kinds of violations of decency, and the name of the senator is associated in the minds of thousands of his fellow citizens with a contrivance for evading the intention of the state and city governments to control the sale of liquor by wise regulation.

The situation seems to have become unbearable to him at last. Yesterday he introduced amendments to his law which, if adopted by the legislature, may carry out the undoubted good intentions of the original bill. "Raines hotels," have been plague spots in New York city for several years. When the amendment comes into force—if it does—the district attorney will bend his energies to enforcing its provisions, and that means trouble for the "Raines" places, beyond all doubt.

February Misery Forgotten.

It was pleasant on this slushy, chilly night, to step into the warm, sweet-scented Sportsmen's show in Madison Square garden. The season seems to have taken a backward jump, and placed you in the midst of autumn on the instant. The fragrance of pine woods, the chirping of birds and baying of dogs, mingled with the many indescribable sounds from wild animals, combine to make one forget, at once the misery of a February evening outside, and to prepare for a revel in the lap of nature. Guides and trappers, in furs and untanned leather, with Indians in their blankets, paddling stolidly about the artificial lake, are there, while the camp scenes, with their rough-and-ready equipments, remind the average visitor of glorious days in the woods, past and to come. The Sportsmen's show is, above all else, picturesque.

Recalling College Days.

Pittsburgh has many men whose membership in Greek letter societies dates from their college days, and who seldom miss the opportunity to meet their brethren which is afforded by an annual convention. That explains the presence of several well-known Pittsburghers in this city today. The Theta Delta Chi began its fifty-sixth annual convention here this morning, with representatives from many states, including Pennsylvania. It is only a few years since the fraternity met in Pittsburgh, and the fact was recalled when the Pittsburgh delegation appeared at the rooms of the Theta Delta Chi graduate club today, before going up to the Hotel Majestic for the opening session. Monday will be the big business day. The convention will close on Tuesday with a banquet, set off by many speeches liberally besprinkled with Attic salt.

Even the Policeman Laughed.

Sleds are not plentiful among East Side urchins. Perhaps one reason is that hills suitable for coasting are scarce. But one 10-year-old boy in an East Side street this morning showed his superiority to adverse conditions by thrusting his feet into tomato cans, and with two other cans in his hands, sliding down a heap of frozen snow into the gutter. Even the policeman on post had to laugh, as he muttered, "You can't beat these East Side kids. Now can you?"

Something Like Aircastles.

Owners of apartment hotels in Manhattan, who have been rather badly frost bitten in other than the literal sense by this hard winter, are hopeful that conditions will be better for them next year. They think the hard winter will induce many persons living in the country to come into New York as soon as the weather begins to cool off in the fall. It is generally admitted that the putting up of those palatial homes has been too fast for the demand. While agents have not been disposed to lower the rentals, they have had many empty suites on their hands, with no particular prospect of filling them. Winter is the season when hotels usually do a good business, and it was the supposition that the swell apartments would be taken as soon as each new skyscraper was completed. This used to be the case, but that was before so many large hotels were built. Now there must either be a rush to fill them, on the part of a well-to-do public, or a marked slump in rentals.

Hospital for Consumptive Children.

New York will this summer have the first seaside hospital solely for tuberculous children in the United States. The New York Association for the Improvement of the Poor has appropriated $15,000 from its "fresh air fund," to be used for this purpose. Consumptive children will be selected to the capacity of the hospital, which will be ready at some suitable spot on the coast before the setting in of warm weather, if the plans are carried out.

Water Main Floods Manhattan.

Manhattan had its flood today, and it was a bad one. A water main burst in Broadway in the Nineties, and soon a square mile of the upper West Side was under water. Happily, there is a good watershed toward the Hudson, and the water ran away by degrees, but the damage to property will be so great that it will make a large jagged hole in the municipal treasury when owners get fairly down to business in their suits for damages.

The Nation's Capital

L. W. STRAYER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Now that the presidential campaign is approaching, a question attracting the interest of the leaders of both parties is, Where are the sinews of war to come from and who is the best man to collect them? It takes money to run a campaign these days, much more than it did in former times, and the financial end of the contest is a very important one. The rich men of Wall street know this and on that basis they reckon their influence in the choosing of a candidate. They know that as soon as the national conventions have been held the Republicans and Democrats will both pass like hat in their direction and they think their willingness or hesitation to contribute will have an important bearing upon the results of the election. Perhaps they value their contributions too highly and it is quite probable they do. Campaign funds can be raised without the co-operation of the financiers who imagine they have a grievance against the present administration, as will be demonstrated if the opposition from that quarter to the nomination of President Roosevelt continues.

These railroad combination promoters, whose operations have been interfered with by the course of the administration in the Northern Securities matter have intimated very strongly that if the Republicans persist in nominating Roosevelt they will not contribute to the expenses of the campaign, but on the other hand will raise a fund of millions to help the Democratic nominee, if he happens to be a conservative Democrat running upon a conservative platform. What they will do if the Bryan wing of the party and a Bryan Democrat is nominated is left to the imagination of the public. Possibly these rich men will keep their money in their pockets and refuse to play with either party.

Pittsburgh a Contributor.

There is no denying the fact that New York city is a liberal contributor to the funds of Republican campaigns. In fact, the money necessary to conduct these political battles comes principally from that city, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. This statement is made upon the authority of a member of the finance committee of the Republican national committee, who, while he declines to give figures, says that the necessary expenses of a presidential campaign, expenses that are quite legitimate and that would not arouse the criticism of the most exacting purist, amount up into the millions. He did not say how many millions, but gave the impression that it requires more than one. When you pause to consider a few of the items which must be provided for, you will see that a campaign cannot be conducted nowadays without an enormous sum of money to do it with. Printing is one of the big items, millions of circulars and three-sheet posters announcing meetings in every part of the country being required, together with great quantities of circulars and other matter, which go to make up a campaign of education. Then the headquarters, where a large number of clerks are employed, takes a modest fortune to meet its payroll for several months. There are traveling expenses for agents and speakers to be paid, hall rent to be considered, and besides certain sums must be apportioned to close states for the use of local committees in their work. An army of men are employed for a period of at least three months, all working under a compact organization. The expense is enormous. Thus it will be seen that the men upon whose shoulders falls the responsibility of raising the funds to meet these expenses are obliged to work hard and keep the party purse replenished.

Cannot Object to Legitimate Expense.

There may be those who deplore the growing use of money in politics, but their objections surely do not extend to the employment of money to pay legitimate expenses connected with the organization. Such items as have been enumerated above could scarcely be objected to on the grounds of impropriety for they are approved by all of the political parties. The cry against money in politics is directed against the improper use of it, such as the bribery of voters or leaders and these tactics are disapproved by the national parties just as cordially. Why the necessary expenses of a campaign have grown so in the last few years is explained in various ways, but one member of the Republican national committee, a senator of the United States, believes it is due largely to the civil service law. He himself is not a believer in the civil service, but has no hesitation in flying the banner of "to the victor belong the spoils."

He says that if the employes of the government were chosen by the party in power, that party would as a matter of protection to itself, put competent men in positions and that in this way the public service would be improved. The party in power would be interested in employing only the best men in order that there might be no room for criticism, and that it might remain in power. Said he:

Blames the Civil Service.

"The expenses of a campaign are much greater now than they were some years ago, and I think it is due to the civil service to a large extent. Suppose I ask a Republican down in my county to go over across the creek and put up some bills announcing a meeting for the next Saturday night. He says he will do it, but that he will have to lose a day's time and a day for his team, and that he will have to buy his dinner and feed for his horses and altogether it will cost about $3. And he gets the $3. Don't you think that is legitimate expense? The bills have to be put up if we expect to get anybody to come to the meeting, and somebody has to do it. In the old days I would say to this fellow: Go over there and put up those bills and I will try to get your brother a job.

"He would have done it without being paid $3. But I cannot do that now. He knows if his brother wants a job even as a watchman or a stableman, he must take a civil service examination and must take his chances with the other fellows who may be after the same job. This is a small illustration, but it serves to show how campaign expenses have increased in late years. Men who do work for the party must be paid for it and there must be money raised to meet these expenses."

Fairbanks for Vice President.

As the days go by the indications point more strongly to the nomination of Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, for vice president. His name has come prominently to the front recently in connection with this place on the ticket, but it was not known at first whether he would accept the nomination. Now there seems to be no doubt on this score and members of congress from that state are doing all in their power to create Fairbanks sentiment for second place. That the senator is a loyal supporter of Roosevelt there is no longer any room for doubt. The Twelfth congressional district convention was held recently at Kendallville for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative and delegates to the Republican national convention.

Senator Fairbanks sent a long telegram to the convention urging that the delegation be instructed for Roosevelt, saying: "There is but one candidate and he deserves our most cordial support."

His advice was followed and the delegates were tied up with instructions to vote for Roosevelt. Some time ago Senator Fairbanks was suspected of lukewarmness toward the candidacy of President Roosevelt, but this telegram disposes of any suspicions of that kind, and shows that he is earnestly working for the president's nomination.

It is known that the president would welcome Senator Fairbanks for his running mate, not only because he is fortunately located geographically, but because he has a high opinion of the man. Fairbanks would no doubt add strength to the ticket and if there ever was any room for doubt as to how Indiana would go, that doubt would be effectually disposed of by the nomination of Fairbanks. He is strong throughout the middle west and moreover he would make a dignified and capable presiding officer for the senate. Roosevelt and Fairbanks is the best guess at this writing for the Republican ticket. Who would care to venture a guess as to the Democratic ticket?

Bid for Bryan's Money.

Mr. Bryan offers $100 for a Democratic platform, and the following is accordingly submitted: "We were wrong in 1900, 1896, and 1900, but know we are right now, because we know we were wrong before. We, therefore, ask the American people for a vote of confidence and control of the government.—N. B.—We point with pride to our future."—Mr. Bryan may send draft at his convenience.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

JURY WILL TAKE GROAT CASE TODAY

Testimony Finished Yesterday and Lawyers Made Their Arguments Last Night.

THE STORY OF LEWIS LIGGETT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Feb. 19.—The case of Milovar Kovovick charged with the Ferguson murder will be given to the jury tomorrow morning. All the testimony was in this afternoon and tonight the counsel for both sides made their arguments to the jury. Judge J. F. Taylor will charge the jury the first thing after court is convened tomorrow morning and turn the case over to them. The principal witness today was Lewis Liggett, the farmer who saw a man leaving the scene of the tragedy carrying the satchel in which was the stolen money. It had been expected that he would be called by the commonwealth but his testimony given today was for the defense. He testified that he was husking corn on the hill back of the road where the explosion took place on the morning of September 25. The spot where he was employed was about 25 yards from the road which he was unable to see. He heard the noise of the explosion and jumped over a fence and ran toward the road. He was met by a man carrying a satchel, which he said was one the one produced in court as evidence. Liggett testified on the stand that he had seen and identified a man at Steubenville as the one carrying the satchel. In his description of the robber Liggett stated that he wore a dark soft hat with a straight brim. He stated that neither Kovovick nor Patrovick was the man who carried the satchel from the scene of the crime. Liggett was on the stand for nearly two hours and was subjected to the most rigid cross-examination by District Attorney Underwood.

This afternoon Coroner W. H. Sipe testified that at the inquest into the death of Ferguson, Liggett had sworn that the man he saw wore a soft white hat. County Commissioner Smith stated that he talked with Liggett on the day after the murder and that Liggett had told him that the man wore a light soft hat and not a dark one. William Long, a Pittsburgh newspaper man testified that Liggett had told him on the Saturday following the commission of the crime that the man who ran with the satchel wore a light-colored soft hat and had high cheek bones and a prominent nose. This description fits Kovovick. Ralph T. Norton, manager of the Ferguson Contracting Company testified that he had a conversation with Liggett on Saturday, September 26, and that Liggett told him that the man with the satchel wore a soft gray hat. Detectives Kelly and Aymer of the Pittsburgh force also made similar statements.

Trayuni Lazio of Pittsburgh, a member of the Servian society practically admitted having tried to tamper with the prosecution witnesses and attempting to influence them. He said he had been to Steubenville in the interests of the defense and had been ejected from the room where the prosecution's witnesses were waiting. Testimony in rebuttal was offered by the prosecution.

Attorney James Francis Burke made the argument for the defense.

Col. Harry Alvin Hall also spoke for the defense. District Attorney Underwood and John Marron spoke for the prosecution.

MADE URGENT APPEAL FOR A GREATER NAVY

Congressman Foss Says Government Should Be Ready to Strike When Necessary.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The house today began consideration of the naval appropriation bill. During the general discussion Mr. Fitzgerald (Dem., N. Y.) speaking in opposition to the measure, declared that our naval program was to procure a naval force greater than that of Germany.

Mr. Foss made an urgent appeal for the upbuilding of the navy, emphasizing the necessity of ship construction in times of peace with the query:

"What would Russia give today if she could call back some of her sunken ships?"

He said, in conclusion, that when it became necessary for his government to strike it should be prepared to strike a blow like that struck by Dewey at Manila.

Mr. Foss was strongly seconded by Mr. Meyer (La.), the ranking Democratic member on the committee, who combatted the statement that the navy was topheavy as charged, and declared it indispensable that we should have a strong navy. Referring to the Panama canal, he said he was for the canal, and also for a navy to safeguard it.

POSTAL OFFICIALS SCORED IN COURT

Counsel for Defense in Machen Trial Abuses Department Inspectors.

INTERRUPTED BY THE JUDGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—In the postal trial today Mr. Kumler charged the government counsel with having withheld evidence and said that if it was intended to try the case on the testimony it was their bounden duty after throwing slurs at the defendants, to have introduced it. He declared that Inspector Fosnes had been rewarded with Machen's place. If Fosnes was in the room, he said, he wanted him to stand up and state how much more it cost for him to take Machen's place than it did to pay him as an inspector.

Justice Pritchard interrupted and said these remarks were entirely improper. Inspector Fosnes then stood up and said: "I never received a dollar," but he was so far back in the room that few heard him.

Mr. Kumler viciously attacked the post-office inspectors and their methods and pointing out Inspector Mayer, said:

"You stand here, accused under the evidence, with having offered a bribe to one of these defendants if he would make certain disclosures."

At this juncture Mr. Kumler suspended to permit District Attorney Beach to make his argument. Mr. Beach contended that Groff was right if he could get $10 for the fastener, if he could get it honestly. Groff was wrong if he got $1 25 and gave all above 75 cents to Machen and Lorenz. He characterized the Groffs as the most quixotic lot he ever saw and sarcastically said they were ideally honest people.

Mr. Beach said that when Lorenz found the Groff fastener had been installed by Machen, two courses were open to him, one the course of honor and the other that of graft. But, he said, Lorenz had gone on, with a verbal agreement, taking his chances against the death of D. B. Groff and trusting submisely in his honor. There was silence, he said, and secrecy and the fear of putting the contract in black and white. He concluded by saying that he blamed himself if there had been any mistakes in the prosecution of the case, but if there was any glory, any triumph of truth over falsehood, the honor belonged to Assistant District Attorney Taggert and Postmaster General Wynne. He then launched into another violent attack on Postoffice Inspector Mayer, who was sitting close to him, for dragging Mrs. Lorenz into the case.

"I hold her husband responsible," interjected Mr. Mayer.

"Yes, and you ought to be ashamed of it," retorted Mr. Kumler.

At the conclusion of his address court adjourned until Tuesday.

You can't be SAFE. No man or woman whose daily occupation brings them in danger of death or injury is safe unless the nerves are in perfect health.

Dizziness, a sinking feeling, momentary weakness or a second's ill-timed anxiety may result in the slip on which Life itself may depend.

No one who has ever faced imminent physical peril but will understand the dismay with which Fireman Maddigan, of Galesburg, Ill., risking his life daily in smoke and flame, on swaying ladders and on slippery roofs, detected in himself at times the signs of nervous troubles, which, if not treated in time, would sooner or later result in a fatal misstep.

Fireman Maddigan tried several cures for his nerves, but not until he used Paine's Celery Compound was the trouble remedied. Today there is no man in the Galesburg Fire Department who can take risks with calmer nerves than he. Fireman Maddigan writes on September 29th, 1903, from the House of Company One:

"In my estimation Paine's Celery Compound is the best nerve tonic. So far it has been of great benefit to me, and I shall continue taking it during the Spring months. I feel perfectly safe in recommending it to any of my friends."

FIREMAN D. MADDIGAN, GALESBURG.

An instant's absentmindedness in crossing a crowded street—(absentmindedness is one of the results of bad nerves)—may result in injury or death.

In the rush of modern life dangers have increased and there is greater need for calm, strong nerve force—the inner motive power that makes every organ of the body, brain and muscle work in quick true harmony.

Paine's Celery Compound feeds the nerves. It is the one scientific, natural nerve food, and was discovered by Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College. In time of danger, strain, worry or overwork it upholds as nothing else can. No nerve stimulant can give the nerves nourishment that is supplied by Paine's Celery Compound.

It cures sickness by curing the real cause of sickness and pain—weakness of the inner nerves. It keeps people well and always at their best—with strong, confident energies, ready for life's trials, life's perils or life's pleasures.

"TECH" GRADING CONTRACT IS LET

Award Is Made to T. A. Gillespie Company for 29c Per Cubic Yard.

CHANGES ON LIBRARY BOARD

The board of trustees of the Carnegie Institute yesterday approved the report of the committee on technical schools and awarded the contract for the grading of the "tech" site to the T. A. Gillespie Company. The bid was 29 cents per cubic yard and it is estimated that there are close upon 100,000 yards in the job. The work must be completed May 10. It will give a stretch of ground a quarter of a mile long and several hundred feet upon which the architects can plan the erection of the building or buildings in which the work of the "tech" will be conducted. The report was presented by the chairman, William McConway.

Work will start actively now on the plans for securing an architect to design the schools. This has been held over to await the settlement of the grading question. There is no decision in sight as yet as to the method even of selecting the architect. The "tech" committee will take this up probably next week and make a decision.

It was announced at yesterday's meeting that the plans for the preliminary lecture courses have been advanced to such a point that it is expected the start can be made about the last of March.

Many Would-be Students.

A move to take a complete census of the industries of Pittsburgh and vicinity to find prospective students has just been formally inaugurated by the director of the schools, it was reported. Circular letters were sent to each of the leading concerns asking that an official take charge of an investigation into the number of employes that would wish to receive instruction in the schools and the kind of instruction desired. The returns have already started to come in. One company alone reported 116 prospective students among its employes.

President W. N. Frew of the Institute board yesterday announced the committee on Founder's day as follows: J. S. Wightman, the Rev. A. A. Lambing, Samuel Hasbden Church, Josiah Cohen and D. L. Gillespie. Of this committee Mr. Wightman has been chosen chairman and Mr. Church secretary. As already announced, the exercises will be held on November 5, when Mr. Bovey, the distinguished British statesman and author may make the principal address. This, however, is not settled.

The recent political changes mean a very radical shift in the city's representation on the Carnegie Institute board. The board of trustees consists of 36 members, of which number 18 are ex-officio members from being members of the Carnegie library board. The other 18 members of the Institute board are named by Mr. Carnegie.

Changes on the Board.

The library board is composed of nine members appointed by Mr. Carnegie, of the mayor and presidents of the two branches of councils, of three members from common council, two from select and the president of the central board of education. The three representatives from common council on the library board were W. H. Stevenson, J. C. Wasson and J. F. Sterrett. Mr. Stevenson was defeated and Messrs. Wasson and Sterrett were not candidates for re-election. C. S. Crawford president of common council, was also not a candidate for re-election, so that all four of these gentlemen cease to be trustees of the library. The select council members, J. J. Booth and R. H. Douglas, hold over, their terms in council not expiring this year.

J. S. Wightman, who succeeded the late John S. Lambie as president of select council a short time ago, and D. L. Gillespie who succeeded John T. Fox, Jr., as president of the central board of education, have already taken their places as members of the Carnegie library board.

NO RACE EQUALITY SAYS LITTLEFIELD

Congressman from Maine Addresses Large Audience in Allegheny.

Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine spoke last night in Allegheny Carnegie Music hall under the auspices of the Allegheny Star Course society. His subject was "Education and Civilization."

Congressman Littlefield spoke at some length on the early education and later achievements of President Lincoln. On the question of slavery and abolition, Congressman Littfield expressed himself in a forceful manner. The absolute freedom of the negro he regards as an error, not because the negro has been given freedom, but because freedom to the negro since the War of the Rebellion has meant equality, in social status, with the whites. For years after the war, he said, freedom to the negro meant freedom from work, and this, he declares, can be seen in the southern states today. The idea that there is any social equality in the United States is fallacious, said Mr. Littlefield. No state, or union of states, he said, can establish any social equality by concensus of opinion. In his mind it is a matter to be regulated entirely by individual opinion and local existing conditions.

In closing his speech on the subject of race equality, he said it has been demonstrated that in any effort to civilize barbaric or semi-barbaric tribes it has been shown that not the virtues, but the vices, of the white man have been adopted, and that it will take centuries to bring savage races to a standard of civilization now held by the nations of the civilized world.

RUSSIAN STORY OF VARIAG FIGHT

Declares That Japanese Lost Many Men--Two Cruisers Damaged—Torpedo Boat Sunk.

NO PRISONERS SURRENDERED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press who witnessed the naval engagement off Chemulpo on February 8, has telegraphed the following account of the fight from Shanghai, where he has arrived with the survivors of the Russian ships on board the French cruiser Pascal.

A Japanese squadron consisting of six armored cruisers and eight torpedo boats arrived off Chemulpo prior to the declaration of war. Admiral Uryu, commanding the Japanese squadron, requested the cruiser Variag and the torpedo gunboat Korietz to put out to sea, threatening otherwise to attack them at their anchorage. A protest was made by the captains of the French cruiser Pascal, the British cruiser Talbot, and the Italian cruiser Elba. The captain of the United States gunboat Vicksburg alone refrained from protesting.

The heroism displayed by the crews of both the Russian warships greatly impressed the foreigners present, who believed the Russians were going to certain destruction. As the Variag and the Korietz steamed past the wharves the crews manned the sides and cheered continuously, and the strains of the Russian national anthem accompanied the Russian sailors as they went into battle.

Battle Lasted an Hour.

As soon as the Russian ships approached the mouth of the harbor, the Japanese poured out their fire upon them. Every gun took part in the terrific cannonade which lasted for one hour. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the Variag, severely damaged, and the Korietz returned to their anchorage.

The Russian officers and crew behaved splendidly. Three times flames broke out on board the Variag while she was under fire, and each time they were extinguished at costly if those men had been at drill. The wounded men were carried below, and the members of the crew who lost their lives were replaced by others. The holes made in the Variag by the projectiles of the enemy were not stopped up.

The Variag sustained terrible damage, both starboard and port bulwarks were destroyed, her guns were crippled and her hull was riddled with shot. Thirty-three men on board of her were killed, including Midshipman Count Nirod. The captain of the Variag was bruised. The Korietz suffered no injury.

Japan's Losses Heavy.

The Japanese squadron lost many men. Two Japanese cruisers were severely damaged and one torpedo boat was sunk.

For four hours, the correspondent continues, the vessels remained in the harbor expecting the Japanese to enter and renew the attack. The injuries of the Variag made it impossible for her to fight any longer, and in order to prevent Japan from getting the gunboats as spoils of war, both the Variag and the Korietz were sunk and the tender of the Sungari was burned.

All the Russian survivors of the engagement were taken on board the foreign warships present, excepting the Vicksburg. The Japanese admiral demanded the surrender of these men as prisoners of war, but this the foreign captains refused to do.

The official report of the Chemulpo fight gives the losses on the Variag at 1 officer and 33 men killed; 2 officers slightly wounded and 17 men severely wounded. There were no losses on board the Koriets. The officers and crews of both ships behaved nobly.

NEGRO MURDERER IS CREMATED BY MOB

Confessed When Captured. Crowd Slowly Roasts Him to Death at the Stake.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Feb. 19.—Glenco Buys, a negro, hunted down by a mob, was burned at the stake today near Crossett. He was charged with the murder of J. T. Stephens of Ashley county. Stephens, who was a wealthy planter, had a few words with Buys yesterday, the negro later securing a shotgun and killing Stephens at close range. The negro then beat the body with the butt of the gun and made his escape.

Bloodhounds were brought on a special train from Lake Village. They readily took the scent and traced the murderer to his father's house, where the negro was found hiding in a well. A mob several hundred strong surged around and dragged forth the murderer, who made a full confession. With hands and feet tied he was bound to a stake in his father's yard. Brush was piled around him, the torch applied and the man was slowly burned to death.

LILLY MINERS HONOR MEMORY OF HANNA

Increase in Machine Mining and Day Labor Demanded in Sub-District Convention.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LILLY, PA., Feb. 19.—The maintenance of the present scale for pick mining, but a substantial increase in machine mining and day labor, are demanded by the convention of sub-district of district No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, in its second day session here. These demands will be presented to the operators at the March meeting of the district in Altoona, and President Currie says they will be insisted upon. The convention adjourned one hour today in memory of Senator Hanna and also passed resolutions declaring him a friend of the miner. These resolutions will be forwarded to the Hanna family and also to the headquarters of the mine workers. The report of the scale committee was finally adopted today by the convention which represents 7,000 miners, nearly all in Cambria county.

In details the demands of the scale are as follows: That the present rate of 66 cents per ton for pick mining be maintained for another year from April 1. That the differential between pick mining and machine mining be made seven cents instead of 15 cents as at present, an increase of nine cents per ton, for machine mining, making the price 59 cents. In return for this, however, it is proposed that wherever chain machines are used the machine man shall be required to prepare his own bottom. It is demanded that the scale for day labor as decided by the interstate agreement be adopted. This gives drivers $2.56 per day instead of $2.40, as at present, and a corresponding advance in other classes of day labor. The convention also asks for a regular scale of pay for dead work different for each sub-district because of the different conditions.

TRAVIS WINS VICTORY.

STATION AGENTS STOOD GUARD WITH SHOTGUNS

Strenuous Measures Adopted Because of Robberies at Bessemer and Turtle Creek.

Owing to the frequent depredations of robbers in the suburbs of Pittsburgh, the agents at the Braddock and Wilmerding stations of the Pennsylvania railroad last night guarded their offices with shotguns. During the evening traffic on the railroad was tied up for about an hour by the revival meetings held at Braddock and Wilmerding, and the receipts were unusually large.

The stations at Turtle Creek and Bessemer were supposed to have been broken into by the agents when they opened their offices yesterday morning. In both cases the safes were wrecked by explosives and their contents were stolen. At the Bessemer station windows were blown out and the doors were wrenched from their hinges, while at the Turtle Creek station the interior of the ticket office was wrecked, the safe was blown to pieces and all the windows were shattered.

About a year ago Bryan Thomas, then agent at Turtle Creek was held up in the station by robbers, who secured $1,500 from the safe.

HAND OF CENSOR SUDDENLY LIFTED

Russia Abolishes Scrutiny of News Telegrams Going Abroad.

ARMY CHANGES IN FAR EAST

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The Russian government today abolished the censorship upon all news and other telegrams going abroad. The lifting of the embargo, which has existed for generations upon the free transmission of news from the Russian empire came as a direct result of consideration of the subject by the czar himself, and in some respects this abolition is regarded here as the most important act since the emancipation of the serfs.

War Minister Kuropatkin, who is going to the far east, will be appointed commander-in-chief of the army operations there, and Vice Admiral Makaroff, who is now on his way east on a train which is expected to reach Port Arthur in 10 days, breaking all previous records, is to be commander-in-chief of the navy.

Rear Admiral Jessen has been appointed to succeed Rear Admiral Rhwald von Stackelberg, commander of the Vladivostok squadron.

Grand Duke Michael, the czar's eldest brother and heir presumptive to the throne, and several hundred officers, assembled at the Nicholas railroad station this evening, bade farewell to a number of comrades who left for the front. There's logic in the clothing sacrifices we are making

THE specific reason is to sell all goods in their respective season. Prudence, wisdom and 20th century store keeping influence this act of ours. Pack goods away until next season? Our grandfathers did that—but not the aggressive merchant of today.

And so, it's an unconditional and forcible clearance by means of great price reductions. Don't fail to take advantage of this sale if you are in need of clothing. It's even well worth your while to buy for future use. There's no mistake about our reductions, there's no juggling with prices—the prestige and reputation of "The Big Store" precludes any such act. We merely state this by way of emphasis, because there's so much gullery going on in the clothing line.

On every garment you'll find the original ticket, with its regular price mark. The entire stock is divided into four sections as indicated by the circles in the above illustrations. Select any garment you will, irrespective of its marked price—and pay only the special sale price.

All men's suits and overcoats marked $6.50, $7.50 and $8.50 go for 4.90
All men's suits and overcoats marked $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00 go for 7.90

All men's suits and overcoats marked $18.00, $20.00 and $22.00 go for 11.90
All men's suits and overcoats marked $25.00, $27.00 and $30.00 go for 14.90

Our entire stock of men's trousers also divided into four sections as follows:

All trousers marked $1.98 and $2.48 at 1.25. Those marked $3 and $3.50 at 2.00. Those marked $4 and $4.50 at 3.00. Those marked $5 to $6.50 at 4.00.

Red and White Seven Outclassed

P. A. C. IS BEATEN BY BANKER SEVEN

Champions Shoot Five Goals to the Red and White Players' Three.

CAMPBELL IS THE STAR

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Victoria	8	3	.727
Bankers	7	5	.583
P. A. C.	3	8	.273
Keystone	2	4	.333

Two runs through P. A. C. field by Lorne Campbell, the Bankers' forward, each resulting in a goal, were the features of last night's hockey game, which was won by the champion Bankers, seven, to 3.

The contest was an exciting one throughout. In the early stages the playing was fast and replete with fine passing and long runs, and it began to wane with the P. A. C. "in the hole" the wearers of the red and white opened up with a spur that portended of a possible win.

As a result there was some fierce body checking, of which Baird was a conspicuous person, but the former champions were unable to beg a victory. Dick Wilson shot the puck into the net on a long shot and "Jigger" Robinson, on a pass from McCarron, secured the third for P. A. C., but the time was too short to overcome the Bankers' lead.

Campbell, who was one of the stars, made the first goal early in the game by rushing with the puck from the center of the ice to the P. C. net. His shot was low, and it went away from the men in the line and Melville, who also was up. Baird came skating up to get him out of the running by a check, but Campbell shoved the puck through his legs and then, skating around the P. A. C. cover point, had a clear field.

This play evoked a big cheer from the Bankers' cohorts, but it was not much larger than the one given Graham, the goal tender, when he stopped McCarron's shot shortly after Campbell secured the goal.

Phymister brought the puck from the net to nearly the middle of the ice, where Campbell took it and resumed the journey toward the P. A. C. cage. Campbell again got past the defense and at the net passed to Young, who shot goal.

McCarron took the rubber down the ice and passed to Taylor, who shot to Campbell, who shortly after rushed through the entire P. A. C. field and gave the puck to Kent for goal.

Early in the second half the rubber was in a lively scrimmage at the P. A. C. net, and Jack Roberts turned up with another goal for the champions. P. A. C., at this stage, began to play with renewed vigor and made the game very interesting.

Baird helped it along by trying to put Phymister out of the business by a cross check, but the Bankers' captain was too alert a player to be caught by such a play. Baird gave Kent a jolt, but when he tried it on Campbell, the latter gave him a jolt that sent him to the ice in a heap.

The Queen's university team will not be here next week, as the faculty refused to sanction the game. The Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) team will play here Friday and Saturday nights. The lineup:

VICTORY MEANS MUCH TO THE HIGH SCHOOL SEVEN

Waynesburg College Has Hard Schedule—Prospects at Indiana Normal Bright.

A victory over the champion Shadyside academy seven this afternoon will put the Pittsburgh High school team two games ahead of East Liberty academy in the race for the championship of the Interscholastic Hockey league. MADE NO AGREEMENT WITH THE AMERICANS

Ned Hanlon Denies That Farrell Story—Highlanders Have New Grounds.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Manager Hanlon of the Brooklyn baseball club has put a damper on all talk to the effect that he entered into an agreement with Frank Farrell of the New York Americans to be a party to Sunday ball playing at Ridgewood park. Hanlon says that he had a talk with Farrell about Sunday baseball at Washington last year, but the local park was not mentioned.

After the meeting of the national board of arbitration, which will be held at Columbus, O., next Tuesday, Hanlon expects that there will be permanent peace between the Pacific Coast league and the major and minor leagues of the east. The case of First Baseman Dillon, who has been signed by the local club, will come up at this meeting. Dillon is claimed by the Los Angeles club.

The latest reports have it that the New York Americans have abandoned the idea of playing Sunday games at Ridgewood park, and have decided to locate in Long Island City. The officials have practically closed negotiations for a big plot of land, 400 feet by 800 feet, on Borden avenue, one of the main thoroughfares in Long Island City.

GOVERNMENT ASKS BIDS FOR PHILIPPINE BONDS

New Certificates to Replace the Current Issue Falling Due Next May.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The war department today issued a circular calling for proposals for the purchase of $3,000,000 worth of Philippine temporary certificates, proposals to be opened April 15. These bear 4 per cent interest and run one year.

The new bonds are intended to replace the current issue which will fall due May 1, next. These might have been continued but the Philippine commission thought that their prompt redemption would make toward maintaining the high standard of credit for the islands which is regarded as desirable. The terms under which the new bonds are to be issued are very similar to these governing the first issue. They will be $1,000 coupon bonds dated May 1, 1904, interest payable quarterly at 4 per cent and will be redeemable in United States gold coin. They will be accepted at par by the treasury to secure deposit of public money in national banks "in substitution for state and municipal or Philippine bonds and certificates of indebtedness now held to secure such deposits and in substitution for United States bonds now held as security for deposits, on condition that the government bonds thus released be used as security for additional circulation whenever in the judgment of the secretary of the treasury it is desirable to stimulate an increase in national bank circulation."

There are no house parties at Dungeness at present, but early in March there will be quite a colony of Pittsburgh and Allegheny people there. Mrs. Thaw returned a week ago yesterday from Plum Orchard, where she visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie. Other visitors at Dungeness are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie and their daughter, Miss Margaret Carnegie, who are being entertained by Mr. Thomas M. Carnegie and Miss Nancy Carnegie.

Mrs. McGilvey and her daughter returned only this week from another shopping tour. Arrangements are being made for the wedding of Miss McGilvey and Lucian James Knowles on Wednesday, April 6. There are to be no attendants, but this will in no wise detract from the beauty and interest of the occasion.

The guests of honor were the seniors, Miss Edna McKee, Miss Jessie Gray, Miss Nancy Blair, Miss Elizabeth Carpenter, Miss Helen Thomas, Miss Lida Young and Miss Margaret Jeffers. Four hand euchre was the game played at seven tables. Four prizes were awarded and the tally cards, decorations and refreshments were suggestive of Washington's birthday anniversary. Mrs. A. D. AMONG THE CLUBS

Consumers League Quarterly Meeting.

The discussion of child labor was given a good deal of prominence yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Branch of the Consumers' league in the assembly room of the Twentieth Century club. Miss Robert Horne, state secretary, took part. The Consumers league has been advocating raising to 16 years the age limit for the employment of children, but the majority of the speakers yesterday were of the opinion that the limit, which is now 13 years, should be raised gradually, one year at a time, it being possible to secure better legislation if the advocates of the plan make less urgent demands. Miss Julia M. Harding spoke of the general work of the Consumers' league and of particularly of the work which the Western Pennsylvania branch is doing.

Representatives from the Western Pennsylvania branch to the meeting of the National league in New York city, March 1 and 2, were elected and include Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg, Miss Mary D. Stevenson and Mrs. Clarissa Popp. Miss Ellen D. Wherry, the president of the local branch, who presided yesterday, and Mrs. William J. Askin will represent the state board at this meeting. A long list of noted people will be present and speak, among them Miss Julia Marlowe, John Graham Brooks is president of the National society, while Mrs. Frederick Nathan is president of the New York City Federation.

Industrial School Successful.

The Industrial school which was opened two weeks ago in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church has started auspiciously. Last Saturday afternoon, the second day of the school, there were 300 children in attendance. They are arranged in groups, the girls taking up sewing, while the boys are given wood-carving. Miss Lina Ackerman, superintendent of the school, has six assistant teachers at present, but the number will be increased each week as the attendance grows. The school meets at 2 o'clock every Saturday afternoon in the large room on the second floor of the chapel, whose entrance is in Fourth avenue, and its sessions last only about two hours. The various other branches of manual training and domestic science and art will be introduced with a greater increase in the attendance.

Going Home Today.

Mrs. Ida M. Houghton, who has been making a little round of visits with former friends since the conference of the women's clubs of Western Pennsylvania a week ago, will return to Bradford today. During the week she has received invitations from several of the clubs meeting from day to day, but reserved her time after the close of conference, for which she came to Pittsburgh in order to preside over its deliberations as vice president for the western district of the State federation, for personal friends. Yesterday Mrs. Winfield Scott Watson of Howe street, a former Bradford woman, entertained in her honor, the guests including 14 other women, all of them, with one exception, being former Bradford women.

Club Notes.

The Epoch club met yesterday morning for an interesting series of talks and papers on England.

Much interest is being taken in the performance of "Hiawatha," the Indian musical play, next Monday afternoon and evening in Carnegie Music hall under the auspices and for the benefit of the Twentieth Century club.

AUS DER OHE SCORED A DECIDED SUCCESS

Well-Known Pianist Was Soloist at Last Night's Orchestra Concert.

After a two weeks' tour, which has been most successful, the Pittsburgh orchestra gave the fourteenth concert of the season at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall last night, before an appreciative audience of fair size. The orchestra and Victor Herbert, its conductor, were given a cordial welcome. Miss Adele Aus Der Ohe, the well-known pianist, was the soloist and her appearance in Pittsburgh must be reckoned among the best musical events of the season.

Last season, it will be remembered, there were but few piano soloists heard in this city, only two concerts, those of Gabrilovitsch and Madame Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler being given. This year, however, that has been changed, and Miss Aus Der Ohe, though latest, is decidedly not the least enjoyable. For her chief number, Miss Aus Der Ohe elected to play Liszt's concerto No. 1 in E Flat, for piano and orchestra, a work which taxes the technical powers of the artist very severely. To its demands Miss Aus Der Ohe more than equal. She played with absolute truth and accuracy, successful alike in strong dynamic affects as well as with the most delicate and beautiful pianissimo. The tone throughout was pleasant and large, yet at no time was the emotional quality neglected. After an enthusiastic recall Miss Aus Der Ohe played a short supplementary number. Her second appearance was with a group for piano soli, Schubert's Impromptu in F minor, Schumann's "Fabel," and the Chopin Valse in E minor. With the last named she was absolutely delightful, bringing out a silvery singing tone and the most flawless rythmical effects. As an encore to this number Miss Aus Der Ohe gave a magnificent arrangement of the "Spinning Song" from "The Flying Dutchman."

The orchestra seemed in nowise fatigued from the recent tour, and played with unusual earnestness and brilliancy. In particular was this shown in the "Lohengrin" prelude to Act III, of which received an eager encore. The other orchestral numbers were the beautiful Mendelssohn "Scotch" symphony and the light and graceful ballet music from Delibe's "Coppelia."

The same program will be repeated this afternoon.

A TRIBUTE TO SENIORS.

Under-Classmen of West Penn Met the Alumni at Hotel Schenley.

Nearly 500 students, alumni and friends of the West Penn Medical college, last night made merry at the Hotel Schenley. There was a reception, dancing and a banquet. It was the annual reception extended to the senior class by the underclassmen, the members of '05, '06 and '07 joining in the tribute to their "grave and reverend seniors." The reception began at 8:30 o'clock in the evening and was followed by the banquet at 10. Dr. J. C. Lang, dean of the faculty of West Penn, was toastmaster. Addresses were made by President Womer of the juniors with reply made by President Caldwell for the seniors. Impromptu remarks were made by the alumni and members of the faculty.

SAYS MINING LAW WAS VIOLATED

Criminal Suit Against Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad and Coal Company.

ABUSED HUSBAND DIVORCED

Violation of the state mining laws is charged in the suit of Theodore Zbikonski against the Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad & Coal Company, and Charles Donnelly, president. The plaintiff alleges he was injured in one of the company's mines at Castle Shannon, and says it was through the company violating an act which relates to the bituminous coal regions. The company is charged with a misdemeanor, and the defendants were each held for court in $500 bail.

The act under which the suit was brought calls for shelter holes in all passages in mines where hauling is done by animals. These holes must be not more than 30 yards apart and must be kept whitewashed, excepting at places where there is four feet of a walk between the wall and coal wagon, which shall be deemed sufficient shelter.

The plaintiff alleges that he was injured in a passageway where this law was violated. He says he received injuries to the spine which are of a permanent nature. The penalty for the violation of this act is punishable by a fine not exceeding $500 or six months in jail or both, at the discretion of the court.

In the suit of Calvin D. L. Anderson against Blanche A. Anderson, the husband was granted a decree in divorce on the exceptional grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. This is the case where the husband testified that the slave girl at their marriage his wife threw a frying pan at him and continued throughout their married life to give demonstrations of a violent temper.

Other decrees were: James Jackson against Annie E. Jackson on the ground of desertion; Edythe B. Welskettle against Ernest Welskettle, desertion; Elvira E. Hoam against William Smith, desertion; Dr. Isaac E. Josephs against Katherine M. Josephs, desertion.

The commissioner in the divorce suit of Elizabeth Streets against Edward Streets has filed his report. The testimony of the libelant and witnesses were taken on March 5, 1889, and that she was forced to leave him while living in Friendship avenue in 1897, on account of cruel treatment. She says he drank heavily, came home late at night on Saturdays and required her to get up and prepare a meal for him. She says he beat and abused her on different occasions and at one time kicked her down the cellar stairs.

Marie E. Cannon has begun ejectment proceedings in common pleas court No. 3 against William Craig and Wesley Craig, minors, and Nettie R. Craig, to obtain possession of a valuable tract of land containing 33 acres and 26 perches, in the Twenty-second ward. The plaintiff alleges in the case is brief and says the defendants are in possession of the property and that the plaintiff is ready to prove that the title is in favor of them.

C. M. Burns filed a bill in equity against J. I. Martin to have himself reinstated to the rights of partnership, which he alleges he held with the defendant. The bill recites says the two formed a land company, which is now valued at $40,000, but that Martin put him out of the business. Martin, he claims, drew all the funds of the firm from the bank and again deposited them in his own name. He alleges that an incompetent man is caring for the books in his stead, and that he has not had an accounting since June, 1903. Unless the buisness is conducted properly, the plaintiff alleges that he will suffer.

Schenley Letters to Be Issued.

Register George H. Stengel has received the American will of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley and it is expected that the testamentary letters will be issued at once to Andrew Carnegie, Denny Brereton and John W. Herron, the executors. As soon as this is done arrangements will be made to send the first installment of money to England, as the will calls for. The will was returned to England that the signature might be proven, and now that this is done, it will be recorded.

Stewart Wants Two Detectives.

Judges John M. Kennedy and Samuel A. McClung, District Attorney Penrose E. Stewart and Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb, Jr., held a private meeting in the district attorney's office yesterday afternoon. District Attorney Stewart has asked the court for the appointment of two detectives to assist County Detective Robert G. Robinson, and the meeting was held over this matter. Mr. Stewart said after the meeting that he had nothing to say, as no definite arrangements had been made.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Martha R. Higbee took out letters of administration on the estate of Leander Higbee. Attorney James T. Buchanan has charge of the estate.

In common pleas court No. 3 the plaintiff was awarded $7,500 by a jury in the suit of F. C. Woodward against the Southern Traction Company, an action to recover for personal injuries.

In the equity suit of Ellen J. Hamilton against Mary E. and Wallace Radcliffe the first named defendant has filed answer denying the right of the plaintiff to a partition of Penn avenue property.

In the suit of A. T. Schmidt against the Homewood Cemetery Company and others, in which the plaintiff was awarded $250 damages for alleged false arrest for trespass, the defendants have asked for a new trial.

Lawrence Shaffer, 15 years old, was ordered sent to Morganza, having been convicted of larceny. Frank Bonini alleged Shaffer and another boy stole $5 from him while employed at his stand in the Bijou theater.

The McClintic-Marshall Constructing Company has begun proceedings in common pleas court No. 3 against the Clairton Steel Company, and William G. Park and the Union Trust Company, receiver, to recover on a mechanics lein amounting to $41,589.57 alleged to be due for services and material furnished.

Samuel Rothrauf, of Braddock has been sued for $10,000 for alleged false arrest by Henry J. Petty and his father, George Petty. A Caplas was issued for the arrest of the defendant. The plaintiffs allege they were arrested on September 24, on a charge of felonious assault and battery, and the bill was ignored by the grand jury.

On the petition of his wife, the sentence of John Durst was reduced from six months to two months in criminal court yesterday. Durst was sentenced on December 16, 1903, having been convicted of unlawful wounding. John Sallee and Andrew Lasculfski, and they were convicted of assault and battery on Durst. Lasculfski was released from the workhouse in 30 days, and Mrs. Durst alleges he went to her home and assaulted her. She said he was arrested for this, but was released again. She wants her husband's sentence reduced so that he can protect his family.

REVISED CREED BASIS OF UNION

Presbyteries of Presbyterian and Cumberland Churches to Vote on Amalgamation.

POINTS OF THE AGREEMENT

(By Associated Press to The Gazette.)

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 19.—After conferences extending over the past three days, the committee on church co-operation and union of the Presbyterian churches of the United States, and the committee on fraternity and union of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, unanimously adopted an agreement as a basis of the union of the two churches. It is in the shape of a report to the general assemblies of the two churches and will have to be ratified by both those bodies before it becomes operative. Both general assemblies meet May 13, the Presbyterian branch at Buffalo and the Cumberland branch at Dallas, Texas.

The action of these committees, if ratified by the general assemblies, will make the Presbyterian church national in character with a membership approximating $250,000.

Among the recommendations included in the report are the following:

We cordially recommend to our respective general assemblies that the reunion of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America and the Cumberland Presbyterian church be accomplished as soon as the necessary steps can be taken upon the basis hereinafter set forth.

First—The presbyterian church in the United States of America, whose general assembly meet in the Immanuel church, Los Angeles, Cal., May 21, 1903, and the Cumberland Presbyterian church, whose general assembly met in the First Cumberland Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., May 21, 1903, shall be united as one church under the name and style of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, possessing all the legal and corporate rights and powers which the separate churches now possess.

Second—The union shall be effected on the doctrinal basis of the Confession of Faith of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America as received in 1903, and of its ecclesiastical standards; and the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments shall be acknowledged as the inspired Word of God and the only infallible rule of faith and practice.

Third—Each of the assemblies shall submit the foregoing basis of union to its presbyteries, which shall be required to vote on or before April 30, 1905, to express their approval or disapproval of the same. Each presbytery shall, before the 15th day of May, 1905, forward to the stated clerk of the assembly with which it is connected a statement of its vote on the said basis of union.

Fourth—The report of the vote of the presbyteries shall be submitted by the respective stated clerks to the general assemblies meeting in 1905, and if the general assemblies shall then find and declare that the foregoing basis of union has been approved by the constitutional majority of the presbyteries connected with each branch of the church, then the same shall be of binding force, and both assemblies shall take action accordingly.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

King's Speech Agreed To.

Stomachs on Stilts.

The man who puts on stilts does not increase his actual stature by the breadth of a hair. He feels taller while he's on the stilts, and when he's off them he feels shorter than he ever felt. Stimulants are the stilts of the stomach. They make a man feel better for the time being, but he feels a great deal worse for them afterward.

The need of the man whose stomach is "weak" is not stimulation but strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery perfectly answers that need. It cures the diseases of the digestive and nutritive system which make the stomach "weak." It enables the digestion and assimilation of food, so that the body receives the nutrition on which depends its strength.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarice Carnes, Esq., Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I can eat most anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind interest. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. A gentleman told me of your medicine, and how it cured his wife. Thought I would try a bottle of it. Am now glad that I did, for I do not know what I should have done had it not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains, You lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

The sluggish liver is made active by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

NEW YORK MARKET CLOSED DULL AND HEAVY

Weakness in Foreign Government Securities Had a Slightly Depressing Effect in Wall Street. Local Market Dull.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market was again sluggish yesterday, and finally turned heavy, closing at or near the lowest prices. Foreign government securities were all reported weak at the opening, and more or less apprehension was expressed in foreign financial circles, growing out of the political situation, and possibly having some connection with the speculative markets. English consols opened ¼ per cent lower, later declined to 83⅞, and recovered only a small part of the loss. Japanese bonds averaged 1 per cent lower and Russian bonds 1½ per cent. American securities in the London market were ¼ to 1 per cent lower. The weakness was based upon a Parisian newspaper report to the effect that the emperor of Germany had tendered the unreserved support of the empire to Russia. This is highly improbable, but in the present sensitive state of the market abroad improbable rumors have their effect. The early cables also reported two failures on the Paris bourse, one on the London stock exchange, and a banking failure in Berlin. No comment was made upon the local significance of these reported failures, and it may be that the underlying cause has no connection whatever with general conditions in London or on the continent, but they nevertheless contributed something to the general sentiment on the market.

The opening in Wall street witnessed lower prices all around, accompanied by some show of activity, but the net losses were not large, and after the London selling ceased there was a slight recovery in prices. Baltimore & Ohio comes in for considerable attention these days, because it has been but recently listed on the continental exchanges, and its fluctuations are taken to reflect the feeling abroad regarding our railway securities. The stock opened fractionally lower at 75⅜, dropped to 75½, but subsequently recovered to 76⅜. In the final dealings it reached to 75⅝ bid. Pennsylvania and the granger stocks as a rule moved within the same narrow limits witnessed all week, with no pressure to sell, and no demand except that coming from professional traders who are engaged in trying to "scalp" eighths out of the market. The industrial stocks were also inactive at slight changes in price, although at one time American Locomotive common advanced 1½ per cent to 23⅛, and Amalgamated Copper rose ¼ to ⅝ from the lowest point touched during the first hour.

Just before the close of the market Brooklyn Rapid Transit displayed weakness, and finally broke to 40⅝. At about the same time Amalgamated Copper broke 1½ per cent to 46¾, and St. Paul declined ⅜ per cent to 139⅛. The weakness in these affected the remainder of the list and gave a heavy tone to the final dealings.

Call money rates remained unchanged at 1½ per cent. Preliminary estimates as to the movements of cash during the week placed the gain in cash by the banks at $7,617,000, and expectations of a good bank statement today were based upon these figures. So long as call loan rates remain as easy as at present, however, the bank statement will have little effect upon the stock market.

Grain markets were again active and excited, and for the first time in years the May option at Chicago crossed the dollar mark, reaching $1.03, and closing within a fraction of the top. The July option, old grade, advanced 3¼ cents to 94⅛ cents, and closed at 93¾ cents. Liverpool and continental grain markets were also excited and higher. Foreigners have been lighting the Chicago advance, and this week's exports of wheat and flour combined, amounting to only 1,637,000 bushels (which is about half the average of former years at this season), indicate their success in getting their supplies elsewhere, in restricting their orders to immediate requirements. They pursued a similar policy with regard to cotton, when that staple was advancing last year, and were finally compelled to come to America and pay the highest prices in more than a generation. It is altogether within the probabilities that the failures reported on foreign exchanges yesterday resulted from a speculators fighting the advance in breadstuffs and being squeezed in the market. Provisions were also stronger, May pork advancing 55 cents a barrel.

There was a slight increase in the business handled on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday, but more than a third of the total was tranacted in the last few minutes of the session, when 500 shares Pittsburgh Coal common sold at 13⅜ down to 12⅝, and back to 13, which was the final bid. Only one small lot of the preferred changed hands at 48⅜. A small lot of River Coal preferred sold at 24⅜. Westinghouse Electric sold unchanged at 80, but later was offered at 79⅞. Manufacturers Light and Heat rallied to 28¼ bid. Citizens preferred at 27½ and Fire Proofing preferred at 27½, were unchanged. The rest of the market was dull and listless.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

On the surface the local stock market is at the lowest ebb for years. Commissions on all the business on the stock exchange yesterday, for instance, would hardly pay the office expenses of anyone of a half dozen houses in the street. Under the surface, however, there is more or less doing, showing that the investment element is not so inactive as it seems to be. Two private transactions were reported yesterday which in the amount of money involved represented many times the value of all the dealings on the stock exchange. One was reported by Alexander C. Thompson, manager of the bond department of the Colonial Trust Company. He effected the sale of a block of $230,000 Union Steel Company first mortgage and collateral trust 5s. The price paid was not made public, but Mr. Thompson said he had been selling smaller lots, ranging from $5,000 to $15,000, recently at from 90 to 92. The other private transaction reported was the sale by Holmes & Sons to Robinson Bros. of 30 shares Union Trust Company stock at $2,000 a share, the sale involving $60,000. Other brokers reported an inquiry for bonds, particularly the underlying issues of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The tone of the market for first-class investment securities is firmer but there is practically nothing doing in the way of bringing stocks on margin, despite the fact that the banks continue to report offers of 6 per cent call money.

In the private wire houses yesterday the attention of traders was devoted almost exclusively to the grain markets, to the exclusion of stocks. One prominent Chicago commission house sent this message to its Pittsburgh correspondent: "May wheat in this market is getting into a condition and is selling at a price where ordinary conservatism will hardly protect it. We think it only due to ourselves and that it is a kindness to our friends to say that on purchases of May wheat we shall require 10 cents a bushel protection kept good."

Charles G. Wahl was elected secretary of the Workingmen's Savings Bank and Trust Company of Allegheny. Mr. Wahl has been connected with the institution for 21 years, having been treasurer for many years.

There were no dealings in Philadelphia Company yesterday, but quotations on the stock were lower at 38½ bid, 38¾ asked.

Southern Pacific declined in the face of the December report showing an increase in net earnings of $804,000.

Northern Securites was strong in the New York curb market yesterday, advancing 1¾ per cent to 91. Current rumor fixed the date for the supreme court decision on Thursday, the 23d, or Monday, the 29th, at the latest.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for the second week in February increased $45,000.

Pittsburgh Coal officials are very anxious to receive enough proxies on the preferred stock to assure the necessary two-thirds vote on the amendment to the articles of incorporation, which will be taken at the adjourned meeting on March 2. More than two-thirds of the common stock voted in favor of the amendment, but the law requires two-thirds of both classes of stock.

Arizona copper stocks in which Pittsburgh is interested were again strong and higher yesterday, both in Boston and in Lake Superior markets.

The gross earnings of Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh for the second week in February decreased $10,628.

Coal shipments over Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie, week ending February, 15, 7,43,350 tons. Year to date 4,483,922 tons, against 4,858,405 tons last year.

The decision rendered by the supreme court of Ohio prohibits trust companies from being officers of the probate court, and, consequently the trust companies cannot be appointed as administrators, executors or trustees hereafter. Trust companies are permitted to act as trustees of a specific personal trust, but not of a general trust estate.

The selling for foreign account in New York was the most conspicuous feature of the day and was a measure of the uneasiness felt abroad over the threat of complications of other great powers in the hostilities in the far east, or in the threatened outbreak in the Balkan states. Private cables reported considerable pressure upon the Russian bourses in Berlin and Paris, where some fears were said to exist of financial embarrassments. Both those money centers are largely committed to Russian securities, both state and industrial, and the pall in their prices since the war broke out supposes the necessity of some protective measures by their holders. These measures seem to have extended to the selling of some American securities, which affects the New York market.

The prospects of a strong bank statement had little effect on stocks. The indicated gain of cash from the interior may be due to the preparation of interior government depositories to transfer 20 per cent of their deposits to designated New York banks in response to the call of the secretary of the treasury to provide for the Panama canal payment. The effect of this operation will be seen, therefore, in increases in the first place the cash in New York banks. The effect when the actual remittances shall be made to Panama stockholders is still matter for conjecture. The calling for the sub-treasury have been augmented by the telegraphic transfer from San Francisco on account of Japanese gold. The Japanese gold is believed to be in payment for purchases of provisions in this country. But is is probable that a part may be due to the Japanese purchases there are also involved. Japanese gold can purchase sterling exchange in New York at a cheaper rate than the gold can be transferred to London, and Japan is supposed to be anxious to conserve her deposits in the Bank of England for future contingencies. This process may also be used to exploit the strength of sterling at New York for several days past.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Amalgamated Copper properties in Butte have been forced to restrict their output somewhat as have the Heinze properties, because of a shortage of labor. When the Amalgamated shut its smelter last summer and restricted mining operations, and again before Christmas, many of the miners and smelter men left Butte for other districts and have not returned. The Amalgamated is now employing about 1,000 men. This labor shortage has also interfered with the operations of the Montana Coal & Coke Company at Horr.

The output of the Franklin mine for January was 320 tons; Wolverine, 80½ tons; Bell, 61.68 tons.

William S. Morse, general manager of the southwestern department of the American Smelting & Refining Company, and other officials of that company, are in Mexico on business connected with the proposed purchase of several large mining properties. The operations of the company in that country are also to be extended in other directions.

The Morning mine, in the Greenhorn district, near Sumpter, Ore., has been bonded for $75,000.

Kier and Chapman have struck it rich in their lease on the New Boston, situated on Womack hill, and which is owned by the Stratton Cripple Creek Mining and Development Company. At a depth of 80 feet they are obtaining assays on nearly two feet of ore that runs better than $60 a ton.

Three carloads of ore from the Livingstone mine, Sugar Loaf district, Boulder county, were shipped last week, and netted the owners $2,576 64. This ore was taken from the somewhat celebrated Potato Patch strike by the Livingstone Company, which at the surface showed rusty gold of immense value. They are now in continuing to give returns of something better than $40 per carload, and shows three feet wide at the 320-foot level, which is being driven on the vein.

When the Par Value Gold Mining Company entered the Turret field, a distinct epoch was inaugurated in the history of that camp. Composed of 2,000 Pittsburgh stockholders, and officered by men whose business abilities are unquestioned, and in whom the stockholders have implicit confidence, this company is recognized as a mighty factor in the development of our mining resources. Several months ago the Par Value company came into possession of the Gold Bug mine at Turret, and the Copper Glance group, composed of seven rich claims in the Badger Creek district. The progress made on the Gold Bug thus far has been little less than phenomenal. When first visited by a representative of the Par Value company the shaft was full of water. The water was pumped out, a thorough investigation made and in almost less time than it takes to tell the story a modern plant of machinery was installed and operations begun. The Gold Bug is a full mining claim, 600 by 1,500 feet, the main vein extending the full length of the claim and averaging 25 feet in width. Sixty feet south of the vein and parallel to it is load No. 2, which has been developed by sunnel a distance of 200 feet, exposing from 4 inches to 12 inches of ore running $20 in gold per ton. The main shaft is down 360 feet vertical, and well timbered.

NEW MERCANTILE FIRM FOR CITY

Western Capitalists Lease Buildings Now Occupied by the Post and Graff's.

A western firm has leased for a term of years through Samuel W. Black & Co. the two buildings at 322, 324 and 326 Fifth avenue. The building at 322 and 324 is a four-story structure owned by the D. McCullough estate and occupied by the Pittsburgh Post. The building at 326 is a three-story building recently sold through the same firm to Harry Davis, and is occupied by Graff's saloon and restaurant.

These two buildings will be thoroughly remodeled and thrown into one building. The plans, as now drawn up by the architects, show a handsome hard plate glass front. The store room will have a frontage of 45 feet and a depth of 120 feet. The lessee will occupy the two buildings for mercantile purposes.

With all these signs prevailing in the realty market, the brokers are asserting that within the next few weeks conditions will change and there will be a briskness manifested that has not been apparent for some time. This week has been one of the dullest for years, the only sales being residence properties where large amounts of money were not involved. Several large deals that have been developing for some time will be closed the very latter part of this week, these, it is said, the realty market will take a boom.

The Elderkin-Stanton Company yesterday delivered the deeds in the exchange deal they made, in which Joseph C. Heckman transfers the property at 4310-4318 Butler street, with a two-story brick and frame building, to Thomas R. Pittock for $25,000. In exchange he by 170 feet on the east side of the Beechwood boulevard, north of Forbes street, worth $10,000, was taken. The same firm sold for E. I. Baldwin to Silas C. Michel an improved lot in Connopolis for $2,000.

William H. Hays sold to Sara B. Mazar an improved lot, 20 by 115 feet, in Erin street, Eleventh ward, for $6,000.

Emma A. Ansmit sold to Geraldine Ryan an improved lot, 34 by 90 feet, in Coltart square, near Forbes street, Fourteenth ward, for $5,500.

East End Deals.

James A. Stockdill sold to Eleanor J. Hoey an improved lot, 25 by 93 feet, in Idlewild street, Twenty-first ward, for $4,325.

W. F. Beiter sold to Lee H. Logan 21 by 80 feet on the northwest side of the Pennsylvania railroad, near South Negley avenue, Twentieth ward, for $4,200.

The Real Estate Trust Company sold for Charles H. Dixon 223 Dinwiddie street, Eleventh ward, for $5,000.

John G. Stephenson sold to Bertha S. Hetzel an improved lot, 25 by 100 feet, in Rural street, near Euclid avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $4,000.

William Newby sold to Sadie G. Vandergrift an improved lot, 30 by 100 feet, in Montezuma street, Twenty-first ward, for $3,250.

Frank Murphy sold to Nicolo M. Pucella an improved lot, 20 by 124 feet, at Juniper and Boundary streets, Sixteenth ward, for $3,000.

Fred K. Linder sold to George De Haas an improved lot, 20 by 90 feet, in James street, near South Eighteenth street, Twenty-sixth ward, for $2,000.

Margaret Easler sold to William Kotzenmyer an improved lot, 16 by 100 feet, in Cypress street, Sixteenth ward, for $1,200.

E. J. White and H. L. McElveen, who have been with the real estate firm of S. Arbold & Co. for 10 years, will sever their connection with the firm and engage in the real estate business under the firm name of McElveen & White after March 1. Their headquarters will be at 604 Park building.

The Aronson Realty Company sold to Daniel Epstein for $4,000 Brown 3220 Boquet street, one nine-room brick dwelling, lot 25 by 100 feet, for $6,500.

Permits were issued yesterday by the Pittsburghburgh bureau of building inspection to McLaughlin Bros. for a new three-story brick hotel at Tunnel street and Wylie avenue, Fifth ward, to cost $11,000; to the Pittsburgh Brewing Company for a two-story brick bottling house at Thirty-fourth and Carson streets, Twenty-fifth ward, to cost $15,000; to S. H. Cohen, repairs to a cigar factory at 17th corner street, Eleventh ward, to cost $800, and to William Pove for a two-story frame dwelling, 21 23d Beatty street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $2,1000.

George Brothers of No. 248 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, have purchased about 100 acres of land in the hill district of Oakmont and intend building a number of residences. They also have purchased several houses. The new golf grounds of the Westmoreland County club are expected to stimulate the demand for residences in that locality.

Bessemer and B. & O. Building Two fine New Trains for Erie Service

Practically $50,000 is being spent by the Bessemer & Lake Erie and the Baltimore & Ohio railroads in the construction of two new day trains which are to go into service between Pittsburgh and Erie about the middle of next month.

These two trains are to be of the most modern type running out of Pittsburgh. They will be solid vestibuled, the conditions modern and comfortable. The Bessemer is having two entirely new coaches built at the Wilmington works of the American Car & Foundry Company, one of the standard design, and a third coach being remodeled and vestibuled for use as a baggage car. These three cars, with a baggage car, will complete the car equipment of the train. The arrangement between the two roads calls for the Baltimore & Ohio to duplicate this new equipment will be used on the train leaving the Baltimore & Ohio's Allegheny station at 8:15 a. m. and reaching Erie at 2:20 p. m. Returning the train leaves Erie at 12:18 p. m., and reaches Allegheny at 6:35 p. m. The route is that already in use, the Baltimore & Ohio to Bessemer to Wallace Junction, the Nickel Plate to Cascade, a suburb of Erie, and the Bessemer's Erie terminals.

The improvement in this service is due to the continued increase of the business between Pittsburgh and Erie.

Pennsy to Classify More in East.

Five large new freight stations are projected by the Pennsylvania railroad for Philadelphia and other important points in the east to secure better classification than exists at present. The Philadelphia freight house will be one of the largest in the world, it is said, and will cost about $1,000,000. At this great center much of the work will be done that is not accomplished now until freight reaches Pittsburgh. In this way there will be less congestion caused here, freight being classified from Philadelphia through to Chicago, St. Louis and other important points.

Railroad Notes.

President W. H. Raoul of the National railroad of Mexico, has notified the directors of that road that he will not be a candidate for re-election when the board reorganizes.

F. S. Sirite, now manager of car service in Arkansas, will come to Pittsburgh as a superintendent, under Commissioner W. M. Prail, who is taking hold of the car service organization in the Pittsburgh and surrounding territories.

The attorney-general has refused to issue a writ of quo warranto against the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern. The writ was asked in an attempt to make the state take sides against the railroad in regard to an issue of stocks and bonds.

The resignation of C. E. McKim, superintendent of telegraph of the Pennsylvania lines west, to become general superintendent of transportation of the Rock Island system, has started many conjectures as to whom President Loree will next draw from this territory to his western road.

FLOUR IS STRONGER IN LINE WITH WHEAT

Both Spring and Winter Grades Are Advancing—Hay Is Much Firmer.

Flour is firmer than ever, and indications are that the market will continue strong for weeks to come. Local prices on fancy spring patent now range from $5.25 to $5.50. Quotations on winter patents have been slightly advanced also. The wheat market has not only put spring flour away up, but is diminishing the old margin between spring and winter. Rye is also affected and quotations have been changed on this grade in line with the others. Wheat is commanding better prices at Chicago than at any time since the days of Leiter. The present situation is due, however, to legitimate conditions, while the Leiter boom was merely speculative.

Hay continues active, and prices have been advanced again. On account of cold weather receipts are light and little is coming in. Timothy offered high yesterday, and $14 was bid. There is no change in the local corn and oats market.

Produce dealers report better business conditions during the last two days. Demands are fair and the outlook for a change in weather is just now encouraging. A better demand for orabges is looked for soon. Apples are firmer and in limited supply. The cabbage market is steady and the movement is not heavy. Poultry is still scarce, chickens and ducks, especially. Eggs were temporarily firmer esterday, and butter is about as firm as ever.

The feature in trading was the further accumulation of May by several of the larger bulls. There was a fair demand from shorts and commission houses, but they were not the buying side. The strength in wheat was the principal bull factor and offset the bearish influence of an increase in contract stocks and a falling off in shipping demand. After opening 1@2c higher at 84¼@84½c, May touched 85½c, declined but a shade and closed at 85½c. Local receipts were 40 cars.

Primaries felt the effects of the war not much, if not more, than the grain markets. There was an active demand for investment account and entire day and shorts were also liberal buyers. While there was considerable liquidation at times, offerings were well taken and the entire list showed gains. May pork closed 10c higher, ribs 2½@5c higher and lard 5@7½c higher.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 70 cars; corn, 250 cars; oats, 150 cars; hogs, 30,000 head.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The strength of the raw cotton market has been reflected in the piece goods situation. No weakness is evident in any section, and with certain fabrics there is insistence upon even higher prices than have been obtained as yet. Jobbers continue busy, both locally and throughout the country.

In the Pine Grove extension the same company has drilled its No. 7 on the Mary B. Hall farm 10 feet into the Gordon and has developed a light show of oil and gas. On the north side of the extension the same company's No. 6 on the Lucas-Lemasters farm is holding up at 25 barrels a day.

In the same district, the Southern Oil Company's No. 6 on the Matthews heirs' farm is a good producer and has been shut down for the past month and will be started at about 60 barrels a day, and is gradually increasing its production, and is now producing 80 barrels a day.

Many of Undrilled in the vicinity of the Light Horse pumper, the Interstate National Gas Company has completed its No. 3 on the Wertz farm and has a show for a 20-barrel pumper. All of the old wells in this development are now producing.

COAL DIRECTORS MAKE CHANGES

Organization of Pittsburgh Coal Board Brings New Officers.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET MARCH 2

Creation of a finance committee, changes in the offices of first vice president and treasurer and the formation of the new office of comptroller marked the organization of the new board of directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. A call was issued also for the reconvening of the adjourned annual meeting of the company on March 2, at Jersey City, when the proposed amendment of the certificate of incorporation will be voted upon.

The board organized yesterday by the choice of Francis L. Robbins as chairman and president; M. H. Taylor of Erie, first vice president; W. R. Woodford of Pittsburgh second vice president; L. R. Doty of Chicago, third vice president; F. M. Wallace of Erie, treasurer; W. Hamilton Brunt, assistant treasurer; F. J. LeMoyne, secretary, and J. B. L. Hornberger, comptroller.

The new first vice president, M. H. Taylor, who succeeds John D. Nicholson of Pittsburgh, was a director of the Pittsburgh Coal Company since its formation. He is president of the W. L. Scott Company of Erie, large anthracite coal operators and handlers. Mr. Taylor is well known here.

Mr. Wallace Takes Hold March 1.

The choice of Messrs. Woodford and Doty as second and third vice presidents was in each case a re-election. The new treasurer of the company, succeeding J. D. Nicholson, who held that office as well as that of first vice president, is one of the best known bankers of Erie. Mr. Wallace resigns the position of president of the Second National bank of that city to come with the coal company. He will take hold of the new office March 1. Messrs. Brunt and LeMoyne have held heretofore the offices to which they were re-elected. The office of "comptroller" is a new one in the company, and is created to fit more correctly the duties which have been in the care of Mr. Hornberger as auditor, a position he has held for several years.

The membership of the finance committee which was created yesterday is the president, F. L. Robbins; the first vice president, M. H. Taylor; A. W. Mellon, George T. Oliver and John A. Bell.

At the annual meeting of the company it was announced that Mr. Nicholson had signified his intention not to be a candidate for re-election to the offices he had held. The change made yesterday in those offices was, therefore, not a surprise, although it was not generally known that the board had secured the two men who have accepted them. When the names of the new officials was made known late in the afternoon there were many expressions of satisfaction with the selections.

The Proposed Amendment.

The call for the second convening of the annual meeting follows:

The adjourned annual meeting of the stockholders of this company will be held at the office of the company, 15 Exchange place, Jersey City, N. J., on March 2, 1904, at 11 o'clock a. m.

The only matter to come before the meeting is the proposed amendment of the certificate of incorporation of the company.

It is a part of the plan for the issuance of the $25,000,000 bonds to be sold to the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, that these bonds shall be issued by the Pennsylvania Mining Company and guaranteed as to both principal and interest by this company. It is desired to amend the certificate of incorporation so as to specifically cover the guaranteeing of the principal of this loan. As the contracts for the issuance and sale of these bonds have already been approved by the stockholders by a vote of 400,725 shares to 1,750 shares, it is important that the amendment shall be promptly made.

To make this amendment requires two-thirds vote of each class of stock. The holders of common stock have assented to this amendment, but not sufficient proxies have been received from the holders of preferred stock to evidence the assent of two-thirds of such preferred stock to the amendment.

The amendment that is to be acted upon is legally notified as it was in the notice calling the annual meeting, of which the meeting to be held on March 2 is an adjournment, as follows:

The board of directors have declared that it is advisable to amend the certificate of incorporation of this company as follows:

That that paragraph in section 3, which reads as follows: "To guarantee the payment of dividend or interest on any shares, stocks, debentures, or other securities issued by, or any other contract or obligation of, any corporation whenever necessary or proper for the business of the corporation in the judgment of its directors; provided, that in all such cases the required authority be first obtained from the board of directors for that purpose," shall be amended so that the same shall read as follows: "To guarantee the payment of dividends on, or of the principal of and interest on, any shares, stocks, debentures, or other securities issued by, or any other contract or obligation of, any corporation whenever necessary or proper for the business of the corporation in the judgment of its directors; provided that in all such cases the required authority be first obtained from the board of directors for that purpose."

If you have not already sent in your proxy for the annual meeting, kindly sign and return the inclosed proxy. F. J. LE MOYNE, Secretary.

The Three Rivers

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 19.—(Special.)—The river at 6 p. m. marked 16.1 feet and falling; weather clear and warmer. The passing ice was as heavy today as at any time during the past cold snap. Aside from the movements of the local harbor boats there was nothing doing on the river today. All of the towboats which arrived during the past few days will stay here until the weather conditions are more favorable. Work at the pumping out of the Big Sandy wharfboat which sank recently, will commence tomorrow, so it will be in shape for business when navigation opens. The Florence Marmet, assisted by the George Matheson, arrived at the Marmet landing today after a hard battle with the ice. Capt. Frank Barton, a veteran mate on the river, died at his home in Dayton, Ky., today. He will be buried Monday.

LOUISVILLE—River falling; in canal, 7.4 feet; on falls, 5.2 feet; below locks, 16.9 feet; clear and cold.

CITY EMPLOYES TO ATTEND CHURCH

Police and White Wings of Both Cities Will Be Guests at Bijou Service.

OTHER SPECIAL PROGRAMS

City employes of Pittsburgh and Allegheny will attend religious services at the Bijou theater tomorrow afternoon. In the audience will be detectives, uniformed policemen, firemen and an army of white-wings. Pastor S. Edward Young issued invitations to the heads of departments in both cities.

In accepting the invitation Harry Moore, director of the Pittsburgh public safety department, said: "I have issued orders to the acting superintendent of police to notify patrolmen of your hearty invitation and directed that he shall give the patrolmen an opportunity to attend the services and that the men will be relieved from duty during these hours for the purpose of attending the meeting."

The occasion is the "Jubilee" Bijou Sunday. It will be the fiftieth service of the kind that has been held at the theater. Labor organizations have been invited and provisions made to admit a host of newsboys into the upper balcony.

Pastor Young will preach on "I'm Tempted." The star intalefan will be Frank Wilczek; the vocalist will be Pastor William Harper of New York, besides there will be a choir of 80 voices, led by Prof. Morgan, with Cornetist Leon Verner.

The Rev. W. E. Biederwolf, the evangelist, will conduct a mass meeting for men only at the Alvin theater tomorrow afternoon. Both the Bijou and Alvin services will begin at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Biederwolf will preach on "The White Life." Prof. Harry Maxwell will sing and lead a big male chorus. There will be a solo on the zither by Prof. Bonnell, the autoharpist. At 8 p. m. tomorrow S. H. Hadley, for many years superintendent of the Water street mission, New York, will address a mass meeting at the Fourth avenue Baptist church.

Tomorrow is the first Sunday in Lent, and arrangements have been made to observe the day in the two cities. A series of services will be begun at the Trinity Episcopal church. At the morning service the Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel will inaugurate a series of addresses on "Individual and Social Salvation." His first subject will be "Soundly Converted Both to Man and to God." At 7:30 the boys' choir will render Haydn's "Passion" music, with Dr. Walter C. Hall directing. Dr. J. C. White of St. Andrew's church will preach at the evening service. He will start a series on "Some Chapters from the Story of the Church." During the Sunday afternoons in Lent musical addresses will be held at St. Andrew's church, Sixth avenue. At 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the sacred cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," will be rendered. It will also be the subject of the address.

Dr. Luther Lee, J. Christopher Marks, G. O., will preside at the organ in Christ Episcopal church, Union avenue, Allegheny, at the evening services. The quartet that will lead the singing is composed of Miss Chapman of New Castle, soprano; Mrs. J. Christopher Marks, contralto; J. Marshall, basso, and Mr. Neely, tenor. Mr. Marshall until recently was a member of the Glasgow cathedral, Scotland.

In connection with Lenten services at Calvary Episcopal church, Penn avenue and Station street, particular attention will be given to the Sunday evening services. The half-hour musical program, preceding the evening prayer service, will be continued. The program for tomorrow evening includes three organ solos by C. R. Broadberry, Calvary's choirmaster; a solo, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," by Miss Elma Barker, and an anthem, "The Day Is Past and Over," by the choir, in which there will be a duet by Miss McAteer and Mr. Miller. The sermon will be by the Rev. D. L. Ferris, associate rector, on "Manliness."

A musical service has been arranged for tomorrow evening in the Sandusky Street Baptist church. One of the enjoyable features is to be the rendering of Dudley Buck's "My Redeemer and My Lord," by Mrs. Frances Myers. Other numbers will be given by a chorus of 25 voices that have been in training for some time.

The seventeenth lecture of the third series of Sunday services before the Reformed Congregation Rodeph Shalom, Eighth street, will be given tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. The subject of the lecture by the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy will be "The Parent and the Child."

PASSENGER BOAT ASHORE.

The passenger boat Steel Queen, belonging to the Pressed Steel Car Company, went aground early yesterday morning. The boat is used to carry employes of the car company from Allegheny to McKees Rocks. The accident happened on the Allegheny side of the river and employes at the McKees Rocks plant were compelled to go to work by way of Pittsburgh. The accident was due principally to the rapid falling of the water. The W. C. Jutte, belonging to the Peoples Coal Company, was sent down the river yesterday to pull the passenger boat ashore. There was some damage to the boat's boilers, but this will be repaired soon. She will make trips across the river today.

Heavy snow Thursday caused rivermen to hope for a rise soon. It was thought the heavy snow might turn to rain, but weather forecasts yesterday called for more cold. The rivers continue to fall. Forecasts are moving up the Monongahela. Ice is much worse in the vicinity of Glassport and it is almost impossible for tows to get through at some places. Capt. Holmes Harger, Sr., says it will not be long until the weather will change and open navigation. He looks for a rise before the end of the month.

The Stella Moren, which has been doing pool work for the River Coal Company, was compelled to lay up yesterday and her crew were paid off. None of the coal companies expect to send out any coal before March 1, although a rise is predicted before that time by Col. Poe.

CALEB POWERS APPEALS FOR A DEFENSE FUND

Fears That the Kentucky Courts Will Again Decide Against Him—Wants to Carry Case to Federal Tribunal.

James H. Moore of Barboursville, Ky., is in the city. Mr. Moore is a friend of Caleb Powers, who was ousted from the office of secretary of state of Kentucky after the murder of William Goebel, nearly four years ago, and was prosecuted for complicity in that killing. Mr. Moore is absolutely certain that Caleb Powers had nothing to do with and no knowledge of the plot to murder Goebel, and that if he is hanged an innocent man will suffer.

Powers has appealed for the third time to the Kentucky court of appeals for a new trial, and the motion will be argued March 17 next. That court now consists of two Republicans and five Democrats. As the prosecution has been political throughout, it is feared the court may decline to grant the petition. In that event Mr. Powers hopes to appeal to the supreme court of the United States. He has, however, spent all of his money and nearly exhausted the resources of his personal friends in fighting for his life and to clear his name of the stain cast upon it. He will need $2,000 or $3,000 to carry on the struggle. To secure this he has eloquently appealed to the people of other states. Mr. Moore gave The Gazette a copy of the appeal which is dated at Louisville, and is as follows:

To Whom It May Concern: It grieves me very much, indeed, to be forced to call upon others for financial aid, but I have fought for nearly four years a relentless, powerful and moneyed prosecution. And during all this time I have been wrongfully deprived of my liberty and denounced as an assassin. It looks as though the partisan courts of my native state have decided to judicially murder me. The $100,000 corruption fund has been a powerful leverage in the accomplishment of this, together with the hatred of my political opponents. In the event I am denied a new trial by the Kentucky court of appeals, I want to carry my case to the supreme court of the United States, provided I can raise means sufficient to print the record and employ Hon. John G. Carlisle, Senator William Lindsay, ex-Gov. Black of New York or other able counsel to properly present my case in the supreme court. It will be too late to do all this if I wait until the Kentucky court has passed upon my case, and if I am granted a new trial here in the event of another trial will have to be incurred and the federal questions in my case properly solved.

Any means given me through my friend, James H. Moore, or otherwise, for the accomplishment of the above ends, will be gratefully received and duly appreciated.

Yours respectfully, CALEB POWERS.

Contributions will be received by The Gazette.

THE NEWSBOYS WILL ATTEND REVIVAL

A Whistling Choir of Urchins Featured for Big Downtown Meeting.

EVANGELISTS TO REST TODAY

A choir of 60 newsboys will lead the singing at the central mass meeting next Monday evening in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church. Harry Maxwell, the singing evangelist, who is assisting the Rev. W. E. Biederwolf, the well-known Indiana evangelist, in the union downtown central meetings, was at the Newsboys' home yesterday afternoon from 2 until 3 o'clock, where he talked to newsies and taught them a number of songs which they propose to sing and whistle in the streets and on the street cars as they sell their papers. Most of them say they can whistle better than they can sing and promised if they cannot sing next Monday night to whistle and thus conduct the singing of the big congregation.

The first week of the simultaneous campaign in Allegheny county closed with last night's meetings. Two hundred meetings have been held and it is estimated that the aggregate attendance has been over 150,000. The expenses of the campaign will be about $15,000.

The attendance at yesterday's meetings was the largest of the week. The noonday meeting in the Second Presbyterian church was addressed yesterday by the Rev. A. M. Munhall. Evangelist Thomas Needham and the workers of the Young Men's Christian association visited the Armstrong Cork Company's factory and held lunch-hour services with the girls employed there.

At Carnegie over 1,000 school children crowded into Carnegie hall, where Dr. James H. Fry held a special service with a stereopticon. Last night a special feature was the singing of a choir of 100 children, led by the evangelistic singer, W. H. Collisson. On the hilltops Dr. E. L. Eaton will open the series in the Knoxville Presbyterian church tomorrow, and on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will change to the Thirteenth United Presbyterian church.

COMPETITION HAS FORCED A CHANGE

Allis-Chalmers Company Has to Meet Revolution in Motive Power.

A NEW FIELD OF EFFORT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.

The announcement of the Allis-Chalmers Company's purpose to enter into the manufacture of heavy electrical machinery is an incident of the tremendous revolution now going on in power development, as a result of the introduction of the steam turbine. The Allis-Chalmers Company is compelled to compete with the General Electric and Westinghouse companies, as a matter of self-preservation.

The great activity in electric manufacturing is directly reflected in the steam engine business. Every great electric installation, not dependent on water power, meant a big order for engines. In the installation of the Manhattan elevated power station, for instance, the generators were built by the Westinghouse people, while the reciprocating engines, of 8,000 horsepower—the biggest in the world; were of Allis-Chalmers make. But when the Westinghouse people broadened their steam engine business into the big unit field, it was a serious setback to the Allis-Chalmers business.

Then came the revelation of the wonderful future of the steam turbine. At Pittsburgh the Parsons engine was developed to a high degree of efficiency, while at Schenectady there was brought out the Curtis turbine.

The turbine with its great rapidity of revolution means it is possible to enormously increase the electrical output without increasing the size of the generator. The turbine engine, therefore is bound to supplant the reciprocating engine in all big electric power development dependent upon steam. The Pittsburgh and Schenectady electric works are pushed to their utmost capacity to meet the demand for turbines.

The Allis-Chalmers people made an agreement with the Crocker-Wheeler Electric company, but it has been found that building electric machines in Ampere, N. J., and steam engines in Milwaukee, is not satisfactory. With both the big electric works building their own engines, the Allis-Chalmers company has been compelled to enter the Westinghouse general electric field.

It is understood that the Crocker-Wheeler concern has purchased the plans and specifications of the electric machines built by the important continental manufacturers. Brown, Boveri & Co., while the Allis-Chalmers people have acquired title to the Rateau steam turbine patents and the Nurenburg gas engine.

Our Many Demonstrations.

Saturday is always a sort of a family day here, and is the day more than any other in which people like to note the various demonstrations going on throughout the store.

In the Restaurant this afternoon Miss Haxworth will lecture on that delightful subject, "Salads and Dressings."

Step down to the Basement today and have a cup of Drawing Room Tea. Drawing Room is somewhat of a family synonym for what constitutes all that is pure in tea.

The Block Light is worth seeing. It is also shown in the Basement. No other light today, except that of Nature, is its equal.

Argentina is one of the daily demonstrations in the Basement—not only cleans, but it also adds a silver coat to certain metals.

Aluminum Cooking Utensils are to be seen in the Basement being put to the different uses of such utensils, yet unlike every other kind, showing no hurt whatsoever from contact with fire.

Up on the first floor at the Notion Counter we are demonstrating an article of universal use to women, "Notahook," yet at the same time doing the duty of hooks and eyes.

And above all remember that our Restaurant is for the public, that it is a Pittsburg institution, and that it is unequalled as a place to comfortably dine.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or officinal names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

They catch this kind in California.

It is a tuna; the gamiest fish that swims. Fights like a tiger and weighs more than the average man. Has been known to tow a boat thirty-five miles and to escape after being on the hook more than fourteen hours.* Caught only in California waters and even there in but one spot—Santa Catalina Island.

Catalina is only 3½ hours from Los Angeles and Los Angeles is less than three days from Chicago via the
